Bury Hundreds Of Quake Victims In Common Graves

Devastated Managua Hopefully Awaits Relief From Outside

THOUSANDS ARE WITHOUT SHELTER

Hundreds Are Evacuating Scenes Of Their Home Which Are Wrecked

By E. S. MOORE
International News Service Special Correspondent

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 2.—Devastated Managua, reduced to shambles by Tuesday's continuing earthquakes and fires, staked all hope today on the quick arrival of relief forces rushing here by air, land and sea.

Exhausted local rescue detachments composed largely of American marines and medical units defied tremendous obstacles in their efforts to fight off epidemic and alleviate the sufferings of survivors, thousands of whom were evacuated in the last twenty four hours to prevent hunger and thirst as well as further casualties.

Hundreds Burned

Hundreds of bodies have been buried in common graves and others were cremated to frustrate the spread of disease, while the search for victims still under the smoking ruins continued unabated. Attempts to identity or count the crushed and mangled bodies were abandoned, with falalities estimated at 1,000 and the number of injured running into several thousand.

Under the leadership of United States forces, survivors have been encamped by the thousand on the hills overlooking the guant ruins of their homes protruding through a grey smoke pall, reddened by fires that break forth sporadically in the northern part of the city.

Marines under command of Lieut.-Colonel D. I. Sultan of the United States Engineers dynamited scores of buildings in a futile battle against the persistent conflagration. Late

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Yesterday's snow-fall, while it failed to remain on the ground, was one of the heaviest of the winter season. Almost an inch of precipitation was recorded in 24 hours, the largest part of which was snow.

Another new high river stage was recorded yesterday, the highest in more than a year, when the Shenango showed a height of a little more than nine feet. This indicates that the ground is pretty well saturated with water, and drought conditions in the district have been relieved for some time to come.

There are no signs of drought around this district at the present time. Lowlands are standing full of water in many instances, and there is every indication that the ground will be well saturated with moisture when the growing season starts.

Tomorrow is Good Friday. The date is more and more being observed as a holiday, it being noted that a considerable number of institutions are now being closed for the day.

Daily Weather Report

U. S. weather bureau statistics for the 24-hour period ending at nine o'clock this morning follow:

Maximum temperature, 37.

Minimum temperature, 32.

Precipitation .83 inches, snow and rain.

River stage 9.2 feet, rising.

Lad Touches Cigaret To Rifle Cartridge; Two Receive Burns

Philip Haas, aged 13, of 1114 South Mercer street, was severely burned about the face, arm, leg and hands, and Ed Altman, aged 11, a colored boy residing at 220 Weaver street, was slightly burned about the face, while two other boy companions escaped injury Wednesday afternoon when the contents of a rifle cartridge exploded as Philip Haas touched a lighted cigaret to the side of the cartridge, which had been broken open by the boys in a vacant apartment at 222 Weaver street.

Immediately following the explosion and injury of the boys, Philip Haas was taken to his home by his brother, George Haas aged 15, and Harry File, aged 10, of Weaver street, who had been with the injured boys but had escaped injury in the explosion.

A physician was called and it was found that his injuries were apparently not of a serious character, although he was severely burned about the face, arm, leg and hands and the skin was punctured in numerous places by the particles of powder. He was reported today by the attending physician as improving.

According to the information gathered by Detective C. G. Logan and Officers Frank Reynolds and Charles Longstreth, who made the investigation, the boys had been playing in the first floor apartment at 222 Weaver street, which was vacant. They found the rifle cartridge, which was evidently a relic of the World war.

They hammered it with a stone until it was broken open. Fortunately it did not explode while being pounded or the injuries of the boys might have been more serious. When it had been broken open, Philip Haas placed a lighted cigaret to the opening in the shell and there was an immediate flash and explosion. The boys attempted to run away from it as the explosion occurred, but the two injured were unable to get far enough away to avoid injury.

SCHOOL TAX MILLAGE SET

Rate Is Fixed At Same Figure As During Past Year

BOARD ACTS ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Acting on the first day possible under the law, the New Castle board of education, assembled in a regular meeting in the Administration building office on East street last night, formally set the 1931-32 term school tax for the district at 16 mills, the same rate as last year.

The resolution calling for the action came up towards the close of the meeting, and passed without discussion. At an earlier meeting the year's millage had been definitely fixed, but no formal action under the law can be taken before April 1.

After adopting the 16 mills figure, which is expected to deposit $873,611 in the school coffers during the year, the board adopted another resolution calling for the setting aside of $189,700 if the $873,611 to the district's sinking fund. It goes to pay for bonds, tax on bonds and the interest, and redemption of bonds.

The school budget for the year, estimated at $1,157,246, had been formally approved just before the millage was set. The 16 mills tax has been the rate for the past few years.

Another resolution which set a per capita tax of $5 on every resident over 21 years of age for the new year, was adopted.

South Bend Bowed In Grief As Body Of Rockne Arrives

Revered Alma Mater At Notre Dame Pays Hushed Respect To Noted Coach

HUNDREDS GATHER OUTSIDE CHAPEL

Funeral Plans For Grid Genius Not Known Until Arrival Of Widow

By JIMMY CORCORAN
International News Service Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND Ind., April 2.—A heart sick city and a reverand alma mater paid hushed tribute today to Knute K. Rockne.

In a chapel along one of South Bend's usually bustling business streets the warrior rested. Within the sanctum, heaped with flowers, men of Notre Dame stood as sentinels. Traffic moved in slow tempo.

Since the early morning hours hundreds had gathered outside of the chapel seeking a chance to pay their respects. As the noon hour approached sidewalks and streets in the vicinity were almost impassable.

Business At Standstill

Business in this community that knew Rockne and his triumphs so well, was practically at a standstill. Some of the merchants planned to close their shops.

Out on the campus at Notre Dame the Rev. Charles O'Donnell, president of the university, met scores of former students who had not been on the grounds for years. The great football teams of the last dozen years could not bring them back, but Rockne did today.

Official committees from Notre Dame clubs of Chicago and the St. Joe Valley stood idly by because further plans awaited the arrival of Mrs. K. K. Rockne from Florida, early this evening.

Meanwhile, hundreds of telegrams from all parts of the country requested the information that even the President could not give. And that was the day of services.

It is Father O'Donnell's suggestion that Wednesday be named.

It was believed that leading Notre

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 2.—It's very seldom you find any good that comes out of the war, but was talking to one of California's sanest and most conservative business men, Mr. Robert C. Gillis. He remarked:

"The only investment that has proven sound during all this mess, is the Liberty Bond."

So the old three-minute speaker was telling the truth and didn't know it. But the tough part about it is, everybody lost their by having to put 'em up as margins on things that was supposed to be sound.

During the Coolidge cuckoo days, they were considered the lowest form of investment. When you look back on things now, you wonder why everyone in America escaped the insane asylum during that time.

Twenty-Three Are Reported Missing As Vessels Crash

Search Begins For Twenty-Three Emigrants Aboard French Liner

BRITISH CARRIER SHIP IS DAMAGED

Ships Collide Off Coast Of Gibraltar—French Liner Is Beached

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 1.—In a report to the British Admiralty, the commandant of the British carrier Glorious stated that twenty-three emigrant passengers of the French liner Florida were found to missing following a collision between the two vessels.

The report stated they were probably killed when the two ships crashed in a dense fog sixty miles east of Gibraltar. Most of the French liner's passengers were Italians and Syrians.

Seventeen planes from the Glorious' complement were in the air at the time of the collision. Four passengers from the Florida who were thrown into the water by the impact were rescued and taken to Malaga by the airmen.

The Florida was beached at the first opportunity, but the Glorious was found seaworthy and proceeded to Gibraltar.

The foreign office announced that one of the Florida's passengers was known to be dead and two seriously and thirteen slightly injured. One member of the vessel's crew also was badly injured.

The twenty-three missing are feared dead, the announcement said.

Fair Rate Board Bill Is Amended, Capital Puzzled

Legislative Circles Buzzing As Changes In Bill Become Known

COMMITTEE IS NOT AWARE OF CHANGE

Amendment Eliminates Elective Feature Of Bill Without House Knowledge

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 2.—Legislative circles here today were abuzz with discussion over the discovery that the administration fair rate board bill, passed on first reading by the house yesterday and then recommitted to the judiciary general committee, has been amended to eliminate the elective feature of the bill without knowledge of the house.

Abandonment of the provision which called for election by districts of the seven members of the proposed fair rate board and substitution of one giving the governor power to appoint the members of the board came when judiciary general committee members looked over the measure.

Unaware Of Changes.

Members of the judiciary special committee, which acted on the bill and reported it out on the floor Tuesday, were not aware of the drastic changes, they said, admitting they had not read the amendments.

The bill was introduced last week by Rep. Staudenmaier, Schuylkill, and was referred to the judiciary special committee. Meeting after the session Monday night, an agreement was made to report the bill out Tuesday so it could have first reading yesterday. Monday night, Staudenmaier was given a series of amendments to the bill which he presented to the committee. They were not read but were passed along to the printer with the bill.

Corrections Made.

The measure was reported out Tuesday "as amended" and Staundenmaier was asked about the changes.

He gave the information that they were mostly corrections of typographical errors in the original "pink" print of the bill. By committee agreement the bill was to be given one reading, then recommitted for further study and amendment along with the Hagmaier measure to create a department of utilities and make

ALLEGE YOUTH CONFESSES HIS PART IN ROBBERY; YOUNG WIDOW PRISONER

(BULLETIN 2:45 P. M.)

As a result of the arrests in Detroit, of the alleged Volant Bank robbers, County Detective H. M. Lee, and State Police officers Heneckeck, Richards, and others, arrested Kenneth Palmer, at Grove City this afternoon, as the alleged man being sought here as an accomplice in the robbery. His home is said to be east of Volant near the Perry Highway but when officers visited it he was not found. They pursued the quest and located him at Grove City at the home of a friend. He is now in custody of the officers, and was brought to this city this afternoon. He denies being implicated in any way in the robbery.

(International News Service)

DETROIT, April 2.—A 19-year-old youth and a beautiful 28-year old widow—the former a confessed bank robber and the latter the alleged "brains" of the bandit gang—were arrested here today as police closed in on the alleged robbers who participated in a $2,500 bank robbery in Volant, Pennsylvania, last August.

Those taken into custody were Harold Holt, who said he was a former star athlete in a Springfield, Illinois, high school, and Mrs. Vera Phillips, a widow and a native of the Pennsylvania town where the bank robbery occurred.

Holt, in a confession to police, charged that Mrs. Phillips planned the "job." He named his two alleged companions in the escapade and stated, according to police, that one of them was a brother of Mrs. Phillips. The brother, it is understood, is living near Volant, Pennsylvania and police of that state are reported to have started a manhunt for him.

In describing the bank robbery, Holt told police:

"Vera's brother stayed outside the bank while the other fellow and I went inside. We locked up the cashier in a vault after taking the cash and two ledger books. We took the ledger books so they could not trace any large bills through their numbers.

"We abandoned the car which we used near Youngstown, Ohio, and we threw the ledgers down a well near that city. Then we came back to Detroit. The other man left town. Vera's brother went to Pennsylvania somewhere near Volant."

Detective Lieutenants Edward Graff and Harry Schouw, who arrested the pair, declared that Miss Phillips and Holt stole a car in Bloomington, Indiana, last August. Later, she suggested the bank robbery at Volant, her home town, they said.

Miss Phillips is alleged by the detectives to have outlined plans for the robbery and sent Holt and two other men to Volant to commit the crime. Miss Phillips remained in Detroit.

On August 23, according to Graff and Schouw, the trio held up the bank and escaped with $2,500.

"I got $100 for my share," Holt told police.

Holt declared that he later demanded more money from Miss Phillips and that he was given $75.

Holt recently renewed his demands and Graff and Schouw overheard the conversation. After a two weeks investigation, Holt and the woman were arrested. Holt confessed after he had been grilled for several hours.

He quoted Miss Phillips as saying that a large part of the loot from the bank holdup was "invested" in Pennsylvania.

Holt, in a more detailed statement to police, declared that he and his two companions had heldup a motorist in Bloomington, Indiana, last summer and forced the man to drive them to Detroit.

Get In Big Money Game

"I told Vera about the job," Holt said, "and she told me that I ought to get into the 'big money' game."

"Vera said," Holt continued, "that I know a place in Pennsylvania where taking a bank would be a cinch. I used to live there, Vera explained to me. It's my home town, she said, and I know just how to go about it."

The youth said that the woman asserted that "the best time to stick up the bank was at noon when the farmers were eating."

Police said that the woman had been married but that her husband is dead. She used the word "Miss" in designating her name, however, they said.

DETROIT, Mich., April 2.—Mrs. Phillips this afternoon declared that she knew nothing about the robbery of the Volant bank. She said:

"I don't know anything about it. After all I've done for Harold I think he's pretty mean. It's simply a bum rap. I gave him food and a room for weeks when he was broke. I was the only friend he had in Detroit. And now look how he repays me. Certainly I kept some money for the fellows. They gave me small sums for safekeeping. How was I to know where they got it? I never had anything to do with the robbery."

General Butler In Pittsburgh To Make Speech

Famous Brigadier-General Reaches Pittsburgh For Two Talks Today

IS BESIEGED BY NEWSPAPERMEN

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 2.—Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler grizzled veteran of countless campaigns, was in Pittsburgh today booked for a speech but unable to recall exactly what he's here for.

Arriving from Indianapolis, the marine warrior was asked:

"What are you going to do in Pittsburgh?"

He replied:

"I'm going to make a speech."

"Where, and what about?"

"In McKeesport, and about anything that comes to mind."

"Whereabout in McKeesport, General?"

"Danged if I know—some club up there. Say, you newspaper fellows ought to know. Where am I going to speak?"

The schedule for General Butler here included a noon address before the Builders' Exchange Luncheon in the Keystone Athletic Club and an address tonight at the Seventh annual banquet of the Optimist Club of McKeesport.

Visit 15 Posts

Chairman James A. Bell of the Visitation Committee stated that approximately 15 posts in the surrounding district of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio had been visited by members of the committee, and that assurances had been received by all these posts that they would send big delegations to the dinner.

Tickets have been placed in the hands of all members of the post, and a big drive to secure the attendance of citizens of New Castle will be made within the next few days.

Chairman C. A. Leslie of the ticket sales committee desires a return of all tickets by Sunday, April 5, and the members will make a canvass of citizens to secure a representative attendance from this city.

Several more new candidates were balloted upon last evening at the close of the membership campaign which has been under way during February and March, and which has added many new members to the post rolls.

George Christoff reported that he had attended a meeting of the Northwest District Council in Erie, Saturday, and had been assured that many from the Northwestern posts would be in attendance.

The post went on record as endorsing legislation sponsored by the Billy Simpson Post of Erie, providing for joint relief work by the county commissioners of all counties in Pennsylvania and the various veterans organizations within the county.

You're the JUDGE

James P. Jackson, Sr., held a claim against the Mills company which he was eager to collect. But Mr. Jackson had no desire to lay out any money in litigation. Indeed, he had no money to lay out. So he fell upon an idea and at once set about to put it in motion. He went to the office of a certain partnership of attorneys and made them an offer. He was willing to pay one-third to one attorney and another third to the partner, in consideration for which the first attorney was to prosecute the case and the partner was to pay all the costs of the case incident thereto.

The first lawyer took the claim to court and got a judgment against the Mills company. Mr. Jackson then settled with the company. But when the lawyers came around for their thirds, Jackson refused to give them a settlement; whereupon the lawyers turned around and filed suit against him.

SOUTH BEND BOWED IN GRIEF AS BODY OF ROCKNE ARRIVES

Dame men who have been scanning lists containing hundreds of Rockne's closest friends for the selection of those who would escort the famed coach to his resting place would end up by naming the following six as pall bearers:

Tom Conley, captain of the 1930 eleven; Tom Yarr, captain-elect of the 1931 eleven; and the famous backfield of the 1931 team, Frank Carideo, Marchy Schwartz and Larry Mullins.

Knute had so many intimate friends that the task of naming pall bearers would be a hopeless one. His players likely will offer the solution.

Plan Services

Whether the services will be held in Sacred Heart Church on the campus has not been determined. It is a certainity that thousands will storm the church on the day of the final rites and for that reason there is a possibility that Notre Dame Stadium, which will serve as Rockne's monument may serve as the setting for the requiem mass.

The gymnasium, too, which will seat 5,000 may be considered as the location for the services.

In order to hold mass in either the stadium or the gymnasium, a dispensation from Bishop Noll of Fort Wayne would have to be obtained. It was believed that this would be granted.

Good Friday At Trinity Church

Day Will Be Fully Kept At Episcopal Church With Three Hour Service

Tomorrow, Good Friday, will be fully kept in Trinity Church, at the corner of North Mill and East Falls street, all of the services called for in The Book of Common Prayer being held.

9:00 a. m. Morning Prayer.

9:30 a. m. Litany, Pro-anaphora, and Address, the Junior Choir singing, Mrs. W. A. McNally at the organ. This service is for all, but it is especially planned for young people and children.

12:00 M to 3:00 p. m., Three Hours Service or Preaching of the Passion. This is an informal service of hymn singing, prayers and eight sermons. Persons are requested to enter and leave the church during the singing of the hymns. It is not a service of any one church, but one which belongs to all Christians.

5:00 p. m. Evening Prayer.

This year in response to many requests made a year ago, and others recently, the preacher will be the Rector of Trinity Church, the Rev. Philip C. Pearson. He will follow an entirely new method of contemplating the Passion of Christ at the service from noon to 3:00 p. m. It is belived this different and fresh method of approach will be found helpful.

Not only the church members are invited to these services, but they are open to any one who wishes to spend a while in prayer and reverence on this Holy Day.

Sometimes we think a lot of those attending the legislative hearings might unite and form a Society for More and Worse Laws.—The Harrisburg Telegraph.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

FAIR RATE BOARD BILL IS AMENDED, CAPITAL PUZZLED

the public service commission a bureau in the department.

Members of the judiciary special committee still in the city expressed surprise the house had acted on the measure without knowing the elective provision had been stricken out by one of the amendments.

Bill In Committee.

The revised issue of the bill today showed that the sections relating to the elective board have been bodily eliminated and replaced by provisions giving the governor authority to appoint the full board without regard to districts.

In addition, another amendment gives the governor power to remove a member of the proposed board without consulting the senate. Other minor changes to make the bill conform to these two big changes were also made in the bill.

The measure is now in committee and will come in for intensive study when sessions are resumed next week and it is forecast that opposition will develop to the amendments now in the bill.

Former Attorney General George E. Woodruff, now Governor Pinchot's special utility counsel, today said he helped prepare the amendments to the fair rate board bill but that he did not know who gave them to Rep. Staudenmaier.

Woodruff added that the amendments were made without consulting Governor Pinchot, and, when asked if they met with the governor's approval, referred inquiries of that sort to the chief executive.

The governor is at his home at Milford today.

The former attorney general said he had heard complaints of the elective feature of the bill from members of the house and members of the house judiciary special committee and, accordingly, he helped draft the amendments removing the elective proviso and providing for appointment of members by the governor.

Rep. Hagmaier, Allegheny, said he had the committee make various amendments to his utility department bill and that the Staudenmaier measure is now quite similar to his bill.

Landslides Near Managua Hamper Traffic—Destruction Everywhere

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 2. — The Nicaraguan authorities are considering the evacuation of a large portion of the native population from Managua to Leon, 60 miles northward, Rear Admiral Noble E. Irwin, commandant of the Canal Zone naval district, advised the navy department by wireless today.

His message follows:

"The palace at Campo De Marte severely damaged. Administration building and field hospital partially damaged and unhabitable. Newly erected barracks slightly damaged are being occupied. Two main masonry buildings at aviation camp damaged and uninhabitable. Frame hangars and barracks intact. No airplanes damaged.

City is Destroyed.

"The central business section of the city destroyed by fire, including the American legation. Brigade headquarters in the city damaged by quake. All important records removed to safety. Water mains and pumps at Piedra Citas buried by landslides. Water being procured at the ice plant and other reliable sources.

"Railroad facilities available from Corinto to Piedra Citas, about six miles from Managua, where landslides interrupted traffic. No information available as to date of repair, but freight from Piedra Citas can be trucked to Managua. Railroad operating from Managua to Granada.

"Nicaraguan government is considering the evacuation of large portions of the native population from Managua to Leon and other cities."

Other messages received by the navy advised that the destroyer Sicard convoying but unable to keep pace with the aircraft carrier Lexington, arrived at Grey Town, 200 miles from Managua, at 6 a. m. today. The Lexington made Grey Town at 8:58 o'clock last night.

Kane Buried Under Eight-Inch Snow

Kane's "April Fool" Snowstorm Shows Signs Of Abating Today

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., April 2.—Apparently satisfied with the spectacular decorative effects which it wrought, Kane's "April Fool" eight-inch snowstorm today showed some signs of abating.

Snow has fallen continually here since yesterday noon when the drizzling rain was transformed into swirling flakes through an atmospheric change.

Motorized traffic was somewhat delayed but not blocked as the roads were effectively cleared by snow plows plying the roads here continually.

Highway forces were caught unaware. Snow fences had been dismantled several weeks ago and the "freak storm" was a surprise.

Love Feast To Be Held Tonight

Interesting Service To Be Held At The Salvation Army Hall

An Old Fashioned "Love Feast" will be conducted this evening in the Salvation Army Hall, 34 West Washington street by Ensign V. Thomsen, the officer in charge. This is a part of the pre-Easter services now being held by the Salvation Army. The hall has been redecorated in Easter colors and presents a beautiful sight. A large cross has been erected on the platform with a background of purple. Andrew Cross brought the message last night in the absence of Ensign V. Thomsen, who spoke at the Forestville M. E. church.

tively established as robbery by police. Rings which Mrs. Becker wore were missing. The small room gave evidences of a struggle before the young wife was overcome by her assailant.

Albert Weisberg, a relative, and Mrs. Frances Smith, a janitress, found Mrs. Becker's body. She was to have visited Weisberg's home early yesterday morning and he had come to inquire about her absence.

Residents in the apartment building where the Beckers lived told police they heard a woman's shriek about 10:45 yesterday morning. A few minutes later a strange man was reported seen leaving the house.

Mrs. Becker's body was not found until after 6 o'clock last night. Her suitcase was found already packed for the trip to her parents' home with her husband for the holiday.

Pola Negri Is Given Divorce

Pola Negri Obtains Long-Awaited Divorce From Prince Serge Mdivani

(International News Service)

PARIS, April 2. — Pola Negri, American film star, today obtained her long-awaited divorce from Prince Serge Mdivani.

As soon as she learned the last formalities were complied with and the papers due to be handed down by the Seine Tribunal, Miss Negri left for the United States aboard the liner Paris for her first visit after a two years' absence.

In her divorce suit, Miss Negri charged desertion. Her attorney told the court she was willing to resume marital relations with Mdivani, but that the prince refused to discuss a reconciliation.

DESPOILERS SOON TO APPEAR

IT IS easier to exterminate the tent caterpillar than to get rid of the roadside vandals, the motorists and hikers who "make the wild flowers wild", who raid every delicate plant that blossoms, break shrubs, rob the farmer of the fruits of his toil and litter every pleasant spot with their picnic debris. Appeals for forbearance, it seems might as well be addressed to insect pests as to this species of despoiler, the range of whose blight is coextensive with automobile, highways and mountain pathway.

When the marauding first reached serious proportions it was said the vandalism was merely the result of thoughtlessness, that the manners of the motorists and hikers would improve as soon as they realized that they were making themselves obnoxious—a vain hope.

Every beautiful growing thing in woods and fields is plucked without conscience and without mercy. Then there is the progressive killing, which cannot be computed in terms of dollars, of many varieties of wild flowers and plants all too rare.

Some, when they found the pickers were increasing more rapidly than the flowers, realized this was no longer the flower-picker's paradise and went to the woods and fields to see instead of to pick and pluck. That laws and fines are necessary to preserve and protect the gift of nature to all mankind is a sad commentary on the American people.

The automobile party that strips a hillside of its spring flowers gratifies its own greed but mars the beauty of nature and denies to thousands of others the rare privilege of viewing it.

SOME DEPRESSION LESSONS

Now that the indications are that the worst of the depression is over, as evidenced from the upward swing both in business volume and employment, it is time to take account of stock and see what has been learned that will prove of value in meeting future contingencies of the same nature.

In the first place, we should have learned not to be so cocksure as we were. Ours is a rich country and occupies an enviable position economically and industrially, but we are not above the operation of economic laws, and should be better prepared in the future to deal with agricultural and industrial depression. Our great public improvements should be spaced to take care of periods of unemployment.

Secondly, we should have learned not to despair too easily. From the cocksure attitude of blindness to the fact that there was a depression, we plunged to the equally fantastic delusion that there was nothing else but depression. A little more poise, a little more perspective, just a modicum of sounder judgment and faith in the ultimate soundness of the country's business structure would help in future emergencies.

Last, but not least, we have learned that in our prosperous country there is a large number of unfortunates or incompetents or unlucky or improvidents—call them what you may—that must be taken care of by some means, whether it be by insurance, or some plan of this nature, or preferably by better co-ordination of the factors of production and labor supply.

Enough problems have been raised to employ the best brains of the country to find out how a capitalistic country, with all its benefits to industry and initiative, can operate so as to take care of the submerged tenth.

RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT

Considering the widespread propaganda that has been broadcast to sustain the idea that President Hoover was rebuffed at every turn in his dealings with congress, it is interesting to note the opinion of Frederic William Wile, veteran Washington newspaper correspondent, that "the president has scored about as many bull's-eyes with congress as the average chief executive marks up." To support this opinion, Mr. Wile gives these facts:

Considering the character of the so-called Republican majority in the expiring senate, the administration had astonishingly good luck with its legislative programs.

Mr. Hoover beat off the export debenture in the farm-relief fight.

He got his way on the flexible tariff.

He put through the naval treaty.

He effectuated his schemes for reorganization of the veteran administration and prohibition enforcement.

He thwarted attempts to strip him of authority over expenditure of the emergency federal construction fund.

He won his fundamental points on drought relief.

He has come out on top—to date, at least—in his tussle with the senate over the power commission.

All this is no inconsiderable showing for a president whom his detractors are fond of depicting as a babe in the political wood. It stacks up formidably against rebuffs like the bonus.

With a record like this during a two-year period when most of the "breaks" in economic and political developments unquestionably went against him, President Hoover is entitled to the confidence of his supporters and the nation. Given a fairer break in the next two years, he will have a better chance to show the country that its faith in him has not been misplaced.

It is very easy to rise in your own estimation.

CHECK!

A colored man, injured in a motor accident, died and the insurance adjuster went to investigate.

"Did Washington P. Johnson live here?" he asked the weeping woman who opened the door.

"Yassah," she replied between sobs.

"I want to see the remains."

With a new sense of importance, the dusky widow drew herself erect and answered proudly: "Tse de remains."

Plant an Oak
It Will Outlive the Trivial
You'll Not Be Sorry

By MARSHALL MASLIN

If you're planning a garden, plant an oak.

Don't say, "But oaks grow so slowly, I want trees that will make a showing right away.

Don't worry about that—oaks grow much faster than you think. Before you know it, almost, an oak will be towering far above your head.

Plant other things, too, but be sure to plant an oak. Plant an acacia. It will grow swiftly and make yellow bloom in the spring, and grow old soon, and break apart. Plant hollyhocks that climb toward the sky in a season, plant roses that climb and adorn a wall and shower you with petals.

Plant dahlias that die down each year, plant primroses that wear themselves out in the making of beauty, plant that leggy butterfly brush that fills a corner in a year, plant petunias and tulips and gladiolus and all those other flowers that make a riot of color in your garden. Plant little things that delicately grow close to the crevices of a rock.

But plant an oak. It has small leaves. You will not notice its flowers. The bees will not swarm about it. Even the birds will not nest in it at first. It will not, in its youth make much of a show. But it will last. It will not die down in a season. It will anchor itself deep in your earth and make plans for a long life. And you will say to yourself: "This tree will last longer on this earth than I ever shall. It will make a shade when I am gone. And though people will never wonder who planted that tree, they will admire the noble fellow and be grateful for its company."

Plant an oak in yourself. Live lightly, do foolish things, waste some of your time extravagantly. Don't be so solemn. Don't imagine that everything you do or say is important. Drop that black disguise of dignity and decorum and be the Genial Idiot you'd like to be. But somewhere in your changing heart, Plant an Oak. Take one corner of yourself seriously. Guard one part. Decide that this one thing in life IS important and worth protecting. . . . I don't know what that one thing is for you. I'm not saying what it is for me—but I know that it exists and is an oak that will survive and shelter your life when all the light things and the trivial interests have gone back to nothingness again.

You'll not be sorry that you planted an oak.

THE BURDEN-BEARERS

They do not live in vain who keep
Close watches where the children sleep,
And give the stitches which repair
The little garments children wear.

Not vain those lives which seem to stay
On guard where happy children play
And never venture far for fear
There'll come a cry they may not hear.

Though dull at times the tasks appear,
And weariness is ever near,
There is a dream such mothers hold
Surpassing worldly fame or gold.

Beyond their dreary tasks they see
The man or woman soon to be,
And all the endless steps they take
Are suffered for the children's sake.

Nor would they say they'd lived in vain,
Enduring weariness and pain,
If at the end their children rise
Great-hearted, gentle, true and wise.

Women in Office.

The investigation of the magistrates' courts in New York has brought into unpleasant notoriety Mrs. Jean Norris, a woman judge. The ugliest graft uncovered anywhere in a long time, the preying of New York police on immoral women was operated notably in Mrs. Norris' court. This, it seems, is not because the woman justice was corrupt, but because she was hopelessly incompetent. She lacked the wit to see through the things that were going on under her nose. She has been hopelessly discredited as a judge.

The last two or three years have not been brilliant ones for women in politics. There was a few weeks ago the case of the highest woman official in the appointive government service, the collector of internal revenue at Chicago, who figured at the sucker end of a faro game and was compelled to resign her office. There was the inglorious career in the last campaign of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, defeated for the senate in Illinois.

Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt looked for a time like a solid comer in public life. Then she let herself be used in the 1928 campaign as the official carrier for her party of the torch of religious intolerance. This faithful, despicable service brought upon her the obloquy which should have gone to those who profited by her service. She was made the sacrifice. Now the once symbol of all that was dry in the administration at Washington is the successful lobbyist there of the California grape people, makers of the makings of our home brew. She is thus to the drys whom she once faithfully served a fallen angel now.

Oldest memories of women in politics go back to Goy. Ma Ferguson of unhappy Texas. To put against this blot there is the excellent administration given the state of Wyoming by Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross. But, unhappily, the Mrs. Rosses, are not numerous enough to offset the Mrs. Fergusons, Willebrandts, Norrises and the rest of the numerous women who have found their way into congress. Ruth Bryan Owen stands out as an exception, if not the single exception, to service without distinction. It should be said, however, that this is true also of the men who serve there—all save the members of the small hierarchy who sit on top of that little world.

Let it not be supposed that this unillustrious record of the women in public life reflects in any special way upon their sex. Politics, as the bitter game is commonly played, is a hard, highly sophisticated trade. There is no place, unless it be Wall Street, where he who plays the game needs a keener eye on his step. A lamb in a wolf pasture has about the same chance as an unsophisticated woman in such a political field as Chicago, New York—wherever politics is professionalized into a hard-driving, money-making business. Few women are yet hard-boiled enough to be practical operators of that game. And who wants them to be!—Miami News.

Future Needs Of Porto Rico Emphasized By Hoover Visit

Nation Discusses Present Condition And Obligations Which Rest On Government To Provide For Betterment Through Industry Or Agriculture

One question which has been raised in connection with President Hoover's Porto Rican visit is whether betterment of conditions on the island shall be brought about through greater attention to industry or improvement in agriculture.

"The hardest problems," according to the SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS, "arise from overcrowding and a consequent labor surplus. Its industries should be developed further, to give employment to many who now are idle through no fault of their own. At present the people generally depend upon a few tropical crops—sugar and coffee leading." The ALBANY EVENING NEWS favors "industrialization as far as is practicable," holding that "only so it would seem, can the workers of Porto Rico be lifted above the plight of poor peasantry." The ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION agree that "outside industries apparently offer the only channel through which permanent relief may come."

"There is no gainsaying that their progress in the last 30 years is a rich tribute to their capacity as well as to the institutions under which they have lived," says the ATLANTA JOURNAL, and that paper concludes: "With an area only about one-fifteenth of Georgia's, Porto Rico has increased in population during the last decade nearly nineteen per cent, so that it now has four hundred and forty-nine persons to the square mile. This density is one of its major problems, but as its wondrous resources develop it can care for more and more inhabitants, and will become ever-increasing importance in American and in world affairs."

"Just what solution can be offered can not be declared off-hand. Possibly nothing except a rebuilding of the island's agriculture from the ground up," thinks the HOUSTON CHRONICLE, with the declaration that "certainly we have no right to maintain control over these island possessions unless we are willing to give their problem all the consideration we would give those of any State in the Union."

"The question of what can be done for the Porto Ricans, or what they can do for themselves," in the opinion of the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, "is less one of politics than of practical education and business. Their economic level probably would show more rapid improvement by an increase in individual home ownership and food production than by attempts to develop a more organized industrialism." The PASADENA STAR-NEWS finds satisfaction that President Hoover is able to approach these "serious matters of state," while on a restful trip and "free from the press of official Washington." The CHARLESTON (S. C.) NEWS AND COURIER records the President's "hope that he may assist the West Indian islanders." The WORCESTER EVENING GAZETTE is impressed by the fact that "the President's visit finds the islanders enthusiastic toward this country," and that "talk of independence has almost subsided."

The progress already made by the Porto Ricans, as shown by the "proud percentages" offered by the President, is interpreted by the ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS as "one answer to disparagement of American motives as 'imperialistic,' and a confirmation of sincerity and unselfishness, as well as a tribute to American administrative efficiency." The APPLETON POST CRESCENT advises that the President in able to "assist in restoring the faith of Uncle Sam's Caribbean children in the doctrine that American possession means more than exploitation." The SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE belives that they "are not given to political agitation and are appealingly hopeful in their trust in the United States." The ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS credits the Executive with "selling the United States to some so-called colonies that sometimes become restless under Washington rule."

"Between sugar, rubber, tobacco and other natural resources," states the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, "the question of our attitude toward our insular possessions has been put upon a commercial basis. That, so far as any one can see, is the only semblance of a colonial policy put forward. It is entirely selfish and represents a narrow group interest. The welfare of the peoples affected is not considered. There is none of the breadth of interest shown by President Taft when he rejoiced in the possession of the Philippines because they gave us a voice in Far Eastern affairs. There is no recognition of what is going on in the rest of the world; no pause before the possibilities of Russia or the renaissance of China and India; no reading of the signs that Europe is pulling itself together with unexpected rapidity. The isolationist mind still rules."

"The Bureau of the Census," remarks the BIRMINGHAM NEWS, "points out that the island population exceeds the figure for the combined population of Nevada, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona and Vermont, states which have a combined area of 454,758 square miles. If we could get those islanders transported to this group of states, they would have plenty of room to breathe in; but that would be unpractical, since they would freeze in some of the states and would possibly perish of thirst in the others. We cannot so easily dismiss the matter. They must remain where they are. But since they are what they are, we must lend a helping hand in whatever problems may be theirs."

"There is no reason to believe that Porto Rico will not eventually emerge from its present situation stronger than ever," in the judgment of the NEW YORK EVENING POST, while the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL recognizes "the essential unity of our American interests in the island and on the mainland." The MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL concludes: "Whether or not failure by the American government to relieve the situation in this possession will have an adverse effect on Porto Rican sentiment remains, of course, to be seen. Many Porto Ricans want statehood, but it is doubtful that their desires will be gratified. Unless something more is done on the islands with respect to unemployment than has been done in the states the danger of failure along this line might provoke other problems for the mother government."

JEERING AT THE STUDENT

You may not have a fun-loving manner and you have not much use for the studious, sedate sort of person.

You think he is trying to show his imagined superiority.

You like the hail-fellow kind and pride yourself on being that sort.

You like to allude to what you have attained in comparison with those who make much pretention of mental accomplishments.

As a surface thinker you may be all right and have done fairly well.

But if you are honest enough to think a little deeper you might be able to see that more earnest study and concentration would make for more success than you will ever have.

Invariably the shallow thinker ridicules the slower processes of the deep student.

Life seems too short to you to spend so many years in silent study.

But suppose the world was composed entirely of surface thinkers?

Men of your kind who go through life the easiest way and take a chance on being able to put things over when the time comes, would not get very far in the world of science.

Your kind would not keep enterprise, industry development and expansion on the up grade and in an ascending scale.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE ORIENTAL

The mysterious ways of the Sultan Abdul Hamid of Turkey are recalled by a statment to the effect that his scepter is in the possession of a dealer in antiques in the Rue la Betie, Paris. The cross of the scepter is of jade, and an interesting discovery has recently been made in connection with it.

The dealer was handling the scepter, when he heard a clicking noise. Something was taking place within the jade cross. A kind of trigger was revealed. He pulled it, and out came a dagger, very long and sharp.

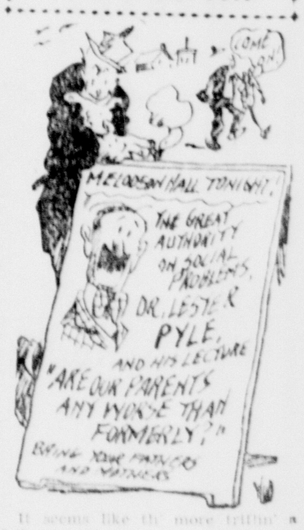

Thus, many years after the death of Abdul Hamid, the secret of his scepter and of his defense has been revealed in Paris.

Dr. Myers Gives Word Of Comfort To Mothers

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

In this modern age of science it is surprising how many expectant mothers have anxiety about marking. Every such mother ought to write a post card to the Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C., and ask for a free copy of "Prenatal Care."

More than 2,500,000 copies of the first edition of this bulletin have been distributed. In the revised edition the mother-to-be is assured that she need not worry for fear her baby will be marked. The well-known, well-trained doctors who prepared this bulletin have pointed out that there is no connection between the nervous system of the mother and the unborn baby and, therefore, that such "material impressions" are absolutely impossible.

The only way a mother may harm her baby, the booklet goes on to say, is failing to plan her own physical and mental life in a way that will result in the highest degree of health and happiness for herself and therefore the child. Nervousness and fears may affect her ability to nurse her baby. Steady nerves and mental poise will help her to do so. One fact which the booklet emphasizes is that having a child is frequently a pathway to better health for the mother.

It is designed for mothers for whom medical aid is not at hand and to supplement the doctor's care, the importance of which is stressed throughout. It includes special diets for the mother-to-be who is either underweight or overweight ,as well as for the woman of average weight. A section is devoted to the care of the premature baby and to the care of the new born.

May I add a word as sympathetically as I am able to the expectant mother. You sometimes get very blue. Of course, you cannot always feel comfortable, but your mind and emotions are your biggest problems. I wish I could have a quiet talk with your husband. I should try to make him see how much he could do to cheer you up and make you happy. Let me imagine I am now sitting down to lunch with him:

"You have the greatest opportunity of your life now to prove yourself big-hearted and unselfish. Encourage that wife of yours, who is going to be the mother of your child, to go walking with you as long as she can comfortably do so. Prove to her that you are proud to be in her presence anywhere. Demonstrate to her and to your men friends that you are sensible and that you do not live in the Dark Ages.

"Make your wife want to go with you to the market to the theater and to church, as long as she can do so without too much fatigue. Be gentle, tender and chivalrous, observing all the nice amenities toward her you used to show in your earlier sweetheart days. If you have older children they will imitate you and love you all the more for your consideration, and your boy particularly will be made ready to become a worthy husband by and by.

"Think of what your loving kindness will mean to your wife, making her forget herself, giving her wide interest and contacts with others. Think of the thousands of self-sacrificing mothers who, because of the hard-heartedness of our stupid customs, are shut away from social recreation just at the time they need it most. You are building character in yourself and a healthy mind and nervous system in your devoted companion, fitting her to be a strong, healthy, happy mother of that baby

It is wonderful to look forward to the coming of a baby and most wonderful when dad and mother lovingly look together."

Yet you meet me in the city's crowded canyons"

Along the invisible lanes of the air, or among jostling thousands in the city's streets . . . it's all the same to Chesterfield. For here's a cigarette that goes everywhere, and that tastes right anywhere. Milder and better tobaccos —nothing else—that's what you taste in Chesterfield. And, thanks to the "cross-blend," all of that mild, good taste and aroma is retained!

FOR NINETEEN years, our Research Department has kept intimate touch with every new development of Science that could be applied to the manufacture of cigarettes. During this period there has been no development of tested value or importance to the smoker which we have not incorporated into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes.

Local Man Joins Mechanized Force

Jesse W. Porter With Machine Gun Company At Fort Eustis, Virginia

Jesse W. Porter, formerly of New Castle, a brother of Flora Williams of this city, is now serving his second year in the United States army and is at present assigned to the machine gun company of the newly organized mechanized force stationed at Fort Eustis, Virginia. Service with the Mechanized Force promises to be among the most interesting and valuable in the Army for the instruction, education and entertainment of the personnel comprising it, from the viewpoint of the mechanical and tactical work to be done by the force and because of its location in a section of the country rich in historical points of interest.

The Mechanized Force is the largest ever assembled in our country and is a result of the policy of the War Department to keep abreast of the mechanical age in the interest of national defense. The impetus given mechanization in all commercial fields during the last decade is apparent on every hand.

The population of the country is being trained in an ever increasing ratio in the use of mechanical appliances of all kinds and with motor vehicles in their daily life and work. The position of the United States as the most highly industralized nation in the world and the leader among the nations in automotive, mechanical, and radio engineering gives this country a potential superiority which the War Department has determined to develop.

INSURANCE AGENT VICTIM OF ROBBERY

SHARON, Pa., April 2.—Edward Archer, South Water avenue, collector for an insurance agency, was held up on the Sharon-Orangeville road last night by two unidentified men who crowded his car off the road with their machine, slugged him and escaped with $200 in premium money. Passersby saw Archer lying in the ditch and notified police. When officers arrived, he had recovered sufficiently to drive his car to Sharon. The car driven by the highwaymen, Archer said, carried Ohio license plates. He gave police a good description of the two men.

TRUCK DRIVER SAVES SLEEPING FAMILY

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 2.—Two firemen were injured and a family of three was compelled to flee early today when a home and restaurant along the Darlington road, north of here, were destroyed by fire. The driver of a passing truck noticed the fire and aroused Mr. and Mrs. John Summers and their daughter, Elizabeth.

W. K. Davis and Glenn Watterson, members of the Darlington fire department, were painfully but not seriously hurt by broken glass. Origin of the fire has not been determined. The building, a one-story frame, with its furnishings and stock, was a complete loss.

CAN'T GET HIS MAIL, FARMER COMPLAINS

BEAVER, Pa., April 2.—C. M. Lotz, Potter township, complained to District Attorney J. B. McGoun today that the road to his home was in such a bad condition that he had not received any mail for six years. Lotz said he would file informations against the township supervisors unless the road was improved.

Bo'Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

Central Press

NEW YORK, April 2—Channing Pollock, playwright and lecturer, believes the day of sophistication in the American theatre is about over and that the critics don't know it.

Pollock's latest play, "The House Beautiful" is a tremendous success according to its author, despite the panning it got from Tammany Town reviewers.

"It just shows that the critics are entirely out of tune with the real desires of the American people," Pollock says. "The theatres today needs glamor and romance. I lecture to an aggregate of 500,000 people every year from Maine to California and I can tell you the tide of indignation against Broadway is mountaing rapidly. That is what has killed the road—not movie competition, as most theatre people like to think.

SMALL BEGINNINGS

Those who labor under the belief that Jimmy Walker is New Yorks most "intersting" personage, never heard of Morrie Karger, "Mayor" of Orchard St. and "King of the Push-carts.'

Orchard St., is an important area of the famous East Side, where polyglots, in teming tenements, propagate, perspire and pay their debts.

Thirty years ago Karger reached Ellis Island from Odessa. His assets comprised $2 and a wild desire to succeed.

"My first two dollars," he says "I took to a feller who rented out pushcarts. He gave me a load in exchange for the money, and my very first day in America I made six dollars."

TO THE HEIGHTS

Beyond that, Morrie cannot explain his rise. What he bought he always sold at a profit. If he only made one or two cents on a deal he was satisfied with the meagre surplus on a quick turn-over.

In that fashion he widened his merchandising ken. Today he nas 35 pushcarts scattered over the East Side, his satellites working for him on commission.

Likewise he operates a large jobbing house, the contents of which, gleaned from Custom House auctions, bankruptcy, Post Office and express company sales, alone, would make him a wealthy man.

AND NOW SASSIETY

Some denizen of the Prosperity Paddocks of Park Avenoo, snooping one day through the East Side, drifted into Orchard St. and encountered Morrie's agglomeration of brummagen—modernistic paintings, pieces of old copper, statuettes suggestive of the Paris boulevards and odd volumes such at one might encounter along the Seine.

At once the glad tidings spread and now Orchard Street has Gone Society, catering to Long Island, Westchester and to tourists from England and California.

Morrie stands in a bar of dusty sunlight at the doorway, dragging thoughtfully at his Wild Onion panetella, contemplating the High Brows, their Rolls Raspberries purring at the curb, pawing over the back-wash of the city's merchandise.

If well dressed men and women from the Upper Reaches care to elbow each other in a mad fret and jostle to procure the junk he has for sale, who is Morrie Karger, one-time Odessa immigrant, to say them nay?

WELL, THAT'S AN IDEA

A New York woman with tired-looking blonde hair and washed out blue eyes, stepped from her studio the other day to execute some neighborhood purchases. On her way back she thought she's take in a movie.

When she got home she found that, in her absence, a man from the telephone company, assisted by the superintendent of the studio building, had entered her rooms and changed her telephone from the old-fashioned kind to a dial.

The workman had left before the job was completed. When he returned next day the woman met him armed with her husband's .45 Army Colt. She leveled this at him and said:

"Remove that new dial and restore my old phone. If you don't I'll fill you so full of lead you'll be worth a dollar a pound.

The workman called up the company and explained the situation.

"All right," said his boss "use your own judgment."

Discussing the matter later, the woman said:

"There is really no public utilities problem in this country!"

WHAT CHANGED HIM?

"I've never married because wives are a burden and freedom is my aim in life," says Georgie White of "Scandals" fame.

Some years ago, in the Cosmopolitan magazine there appeared an interview with the same Georgie, in the course of which he admitted that one of his youthful ambitions had been 'to be kept by a woman."

Miss Thompson Is Recovering

Former Local Girl, Accident Victim, Improving At Elmira, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott McCaslin, East Washington street have returned from Elmira, N. Y., where they visited their niece, Miss Gladys Thompson, who seven weeks ago was seriously injured when struck by an automobile when stepping from a street car.

She has just recently been removed to her home at 1313 Pratt St., from the hospital, but it will be necessary for her to have two trained nurses in attendance for some months.

Miss Thompson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Thompson, formerly of New Castle, who are well known in this vicinity. Although her progress is steady, it will be some time before she will be able to get up.

Mr. and Mrs. McCaslin were accompanied as far as Wellsboro by J. Elder Bryan and wife, who returned home with them.

Communion Service At Epworth Church

Dr. S. L. Maxwell, pastor of Epworth Methodist church, announces that there will be a continuous communion service in his church this evening, beginning at 7:15 and continuing until 9 o'clock, with the congregation free to come and go at any time.

Communion will be administered at twenty minute intervals, with appropriate music, scripture reading, prayers and solos supplementing the Lord's Supper.

STREET COMPLAINT.

Dear Sir:—

Why spend so much time and money on the Paper Mill road. A road that is used very little only in the summer time and then mostly by pleasure seekers, and neglect so important a street as the one from the end of the pavement on Sheridan avenue to our two largest cemeteries, which the public is compelled to travel the year around and in very large numbers. This is also a street that a great many people visiting our city are required to go over and is not a very good advertisement for our city.

A special musical program will be given by the choir and Joseph Patterson, Jr., will give a violin number, accompanied by his sister, Anna Patterson.

Find Prisoners Known To Police

Fingerprints Reveal Couple Taken Here, Had Been Arrested Frequently

Word has just been received by the local police authorities from the state police Bureau of Criminals Investigation at Harrisburg, indicating that Earl Bowers and Helen Burns, the man and woman arrested here a few weeks ago and held on a suspicion charge for several days due to their actions, had quite a police record.

Fingerprints taken by the state police at the local police headquarters and forwarded to the bureau have proven the fact that Bowers had been arrested at least seventeen previous times under a variety of different names and on charges of varying types. A record of arrest on one previous occasion was found on Helen Burns.

The record of arrests showed that the arrests occurred generally in connection with some form of racketteering. They were assessed fines of $10 each, which they paid and left immediately for parts unknown.

Collegians Prefer Movies To Museums

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 2.—The college boy, just like the stenographer and the grocery clerk, prefers a movie to a museum.

Of 308 students questioned by Spectator, undergraduate publication of Columbia University, almost half had never visited the American Museum of Natural History, one of the largest in the world and located here in New York.

Two thirds had visited the Metropolitan Museum, but explained their vists were part of their class assignments. Only one out of three had ever been to the Metropolitan Opera, and plays by the Theater Guild and the Civic Reperatory had been seen by only one-seventh of the students.

All except twenty of the 308, however had been to one of the big Broadway motion picture theaters, and all of them visited the neighborhood movies.

Ibsen

What are some salient points in the life of Henrik Ibsen?

Henrik Ibsen, Norwegian dramatist who strongly influenced German, French, English, Italian and Scandinavian literatures, was born at Skien, Norway, March 20, 1828. He was very poor as a boy. Later he attended scientific school, became an apothecary's apprentice, and planned to study medicine had he not been diverted by the successful production of one of his plays. He became the director of the Norwegian theater for five years, spent some years in travel and died in Christiana. Some of his best-known works include, "A Doll's House," "Peer Gynt," "Ghosts," "Hedda Gabbler" and "The Master Builder."

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

SUMMARY OF ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1930

THE 84TH ANNUAL REPORT of The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, covering operations for the year 1930, will be formally presented to the stockholders at the annual meeting on April 14th, 1931. The report shows that although the Company's total operating revenues in 1930 declined over $112,000,000, it earned a net income sufficient not only to pay 8% dividends and all other charges, but also to provide a surplus of nearly $11,500,000.

Net income amounting to $68,809,818 was equivalent to 10.55% upon the outstanding capital stock at the close of the year, as compared with 17.64% upon the amount outstanding at the close of 1929. Net income per share (par $50) was $5.28 compared with $8.82 in 1929.

OPERATING RESULTS

	1930	Comparison with 1929 Increase or Decrease
TOTAL OPERATING REVENUES were	$570,466,360	D$112,237,571
TOTAL OPERATING EXPENSES were	427,183,181	D 66,967,412
LEAVING NET REVENUE FROM RAILWAY OPERATIONS of	$143,283,179	D $46,270,159
TAXES amounted to	35,661,765	D 4,866,839
EQUIPMENT, JOINT FACILITY RENTS, etc., amounted to	15,438,866	D 455,281
LEAVING NET RAILWAY OPERATING INCOME of	$ 92,181,557	D $40,958,069
INCOME FROM INVESTMENTS AND OTHER SOURCES amounted to	55,266,677	I 6,475,177
MAKING GROSS INCOME of	$147,448,234	D $34,482,892
RENTAL PAID LEASED LINES, INTEREST ON FUNDED DEBT AND OTHER CHARGES amounted to	78,638,416	D 1,014,192
LEAVING NET INCOME (Equal to 10.55% of Capital Stock)	$ 68,809,818	D $33,468,700

After providing for the payment of 8% dividends to the stockholders and for sinking and other reserve funds, $11,431,273 was credited to Profit and Loss Account.

* * *

The financial results achieved last year, notwithstanding marked reductions in business and revenues, reflect not only the Company's large capital expenditures for improvements in service and efficiencies and economies in operation, but also the increasingly cordial and effective cooperation which exists between the management and employes.

REPORT NUMEROUS SITES OFFERED FOR POSTOFFICE

Sites which property owners here are reported to have offered as possible locations for New Castle's new postoffice, bids for which are to be opened in Washington, D. C. on April 21, or sites reported to be attracting considerable attention from government officers at Washington, include the following:

The present postoffice site, North Mercer street.

The library site, North Jefferson street.

Old Martin-Gantz school property, North Jefferson street.

Property on which stands Dr. S. W. Perry home and others, bounded by East, East North, East Falls and Rebekah way.

Old Clendenin property, northwest corner at North Mercer and Grant streets.

Harlan property, northeast corner at North Jefferson and Falls street.

Gunning property, southwest corner of the public square.

Dana and Smith properties, across North Mercer street from The Castleton.

While a number of sites are understood to be under consideration, the postoffice continues to give attention to the North Mercer street site upon which the present building stands.

Definite announcement as to the site which the government will select or as to which will be presented as possible properties, will not be made until April 21.

Postmaster Edwin Crawford has furnished for five or six owners papers upon which their bids and informative data must be furnished, but announces that no word regarding the possible site has come from the capital city.

Whether or not architects from the Treasury department, which handles the building program for the government, will come here to inspect the properties offered after the bids are opened, has not been learned.

The city has been allotted $525,000 for the new government building project.

Five-Day Week Policy Reported Given Impetus By Recent Depression

By ETHELBERT STEWART
United States Commissioner of Labor Statistics

The impetus given the five day week policy by poor business conditions has been very, very great. Obstacles have been removed from the path leading to adoption of the shorter working week by the lack of sufficient work, in many instances, to keep plants busy more than three days weekly.

There will, of course, be a certain portion of establishments operated by persons with backward ideas of business management which will revert to the five and a half or six-day week when business gets back to normal. But the majority of plants which have been forced to go on the reduced schedule will keep it reduced, as the feasibility and economic soundness of the five day week may now be said to have been demonstrated successfully.

Night work and Sunday operations as the cotton textile will be found to have declined also, when conditions again become normal, it is believed.

The beneficial effects of shorter hours on the employment situation have not been noticed as yet because of the fact that operations have been cut down so greatly. When enough orders are received, however, to keep factories busy six days a week, it will become necessary for those retailing the five day week to add more workers to their pay rolls than they formerly carried.

When the change was made in numerous plants from a six to a five and a half day basis, in many cases the four hours removed Saturday afternoons were spread throughout the balance of the working week. It is not expected though, that there will be a similar spread when the four hours of Saturday mornings are eliminated.

Another factor that is inducing the change to the five day week program is the growing realization of the fact that it is often unprofitable to operate only a half day on Saturdays. The overhead arising from starting up operations for only four hours is proportionately larger than if the plant were active an entire day.

The depression has focused attention on the five-day week, and there is little tendency apparent to revive agitation for minimum wage legislation.

Lower Merion Team On Way To Scene Of Championship Game

(International News Service)

PITTSBURG, April 2.—Coach Bill Anderson and his Lower Merion high school team were due to arrive here today in preparation for the final contest with Scott high of North Braddock on Saturday night to decide the P. I. A. A. championship.

Workouts on the Pitt stadium court have been planned for the East-State champions. Eleven players, the coach, manager and a trainer make up the Lower Merion entourage.

A delegation of fans, expected to number over 500, is expected Friday by train. Along with them will come the school band.

Leo McKay, Mercer District Attorney Addresses Methodists

The Epworth Methodist church had as their guest speaker Wednesday evening the district attorney of Mercer county, Leo McKay, who is well known in this district.

In addition to his official duties, Mr. McKay finds time to be an active worker in the First Methodist church of Sharon, carry out his duties as president of the Men's Bible class and to take an interest in the young people of the community.

Wednesday evening his address was particularly pointed to the young people and he spoke on "What Christianity Gives to You", stressing the fact that it gives an adequate explanation of life and makes one feel at home in the universe; it lifts one ideals to the highest type, compelling us to live a life above reproach; it gives an adequate program for life as identified with the kingdom of God.

Miss Helen Allen contributed a vocal solo to the program.

Center U. P. Easter Services

Easter services Sunday in the Center United Presbyterian church will be marked by the spring communion at 11 a. m.

The sermon topic will be "The Day of Resurrection" and there will be a splendid musical program.

Preparatory services will be held Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, with the annual congregational meeting following the preparatory service and at the colse of this meeting the annual meeting of the Center Cemetery Association will be held.

C. G. Johnston is pastor of the congregation.

GARDNER NEWS

Mrs. Ed. O'Neil, of the Butler road is now at home from the hospital and is convalesing after an operation.

Mrs. Percy Knight of New Castle spent some time on Monday visiting with old neighbors, and relatives at Gardner.

Sally Lou McConahy, of Gardner, had her tonsils removed last Friday at the Jameson Memorial hospital, and is now at home, recovering very well.

Mrs. James McDonald of the New Castle-Ellwood road has been having a very severe cold for some time, but seems to be on the way to recovery.

Mrs. W. E. Badger, of the old Pittsburgh road was ill for several weeks, but is now able to be about her room and expects to do down stairs in a few days.

Attorney C. W. Fenton, and Mrs. Fenton, of the New Castle-Ellwood road, entertained the latter's sister and husband, of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. James Rhodes, for a two days visit this week.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGary, of Gardner, have the chickenpox, but are recovering. Mr. McGary spent a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McGary, of the Wilmington road.

Mrs. Floyd Stitzinger of the Savannah road was ill for five weeks with flu, but is now recovered and able to be about. Alexander McConahy of the old Pittsburgh road was a guest at the Stitzinger home yesterday.

Charles Benson, and family of Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, and children Ruth Elizabeth, and Junior, and Miss Selma Benson all motored to New Wilmington Junction last Sunday to visit their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Phillips.

J. Lester Shimp of Gardner, met with quite an accident last Friday at the Mill where he was working. A piece of steel struck his glasses and cut thru the lens but did not injure the eye, but severely hurt the nose. But after the wound was dressed the young man bravely kept on working.

Mrs. Sidney Zeigler of the Butler road, mother of Mrs. Philip Moore of Gardner, has been ill for some time, but seems to be slowly improving, and her family and many friends are hoping for complete recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Walls, and children of the Youngstown Hill spent Sunday with thhe Moore family at Gardner.

Little Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Robison, of Gardner is just recovering from tonsilitis. Clifford Robison, of Grant City came to Gardner on Wednesday, and took his mother, Mrs. T. J. Robison, to her home, after she had spent several weeks with her children at Gardner. The Robison homestead is near Portersville.

Mrs. Samuel Love, and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wolfe, of the old Pittsburgh road, visited their relatives in Butler last Sunday. Mr. Fuhs of New Castle was a guest on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Kananauer of Butler. Miss Dorothy Fuhs, visited Mrs. Love on Monday. Mrs. Love and Mrs. Wolfe, spent the day recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kneram of Croton avenue in New Castle. Mrs. Ferrell and children of New Castle spent Sunday with their relatives at the Love home.

Mrs. John D. Heminger, of the Butler road, wrote a play, called "The Stubbs Family Entertain," and this play was given on Tuesday night of last week at the Third United Presbyterian church in New Castle, and will be given next Tuesday night at Princeton High school. The Play was written and directed by Mrs. Heminger, and was given by the Y. L. B. Section G. The play was so well received that the players have consented to give it again.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Urey, and children of New Castle spent Tuesday evening at Gardner, with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Robison.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robison of Gardner entertained a group of the latter's relatives on Tuesday night, Mrs. Robison's parents Mr. and Mrs. Russell Phillips, and daughter Shirley of Fourth street in New Castle and the parents of Mrs. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Laverack, of Myer avenue, Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, and daughter Miss Margaret, of Myer avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Windsor McNalley of Euclid avenue in New Castle. Mrs. Robison was assisted by her mother in preparing and serving an elaborate lunch. The hours were spent socially and it was at a late hour that the guests said a grateful good night to their host and hostess, and went out carrying with them a pleasant picture of the cosy little home, where happiness abides.

Mrs. Philip Moore, Mrs. T. J. Shaffer, and Mrs. John Morrow, all of Gardner, were joint hostesses to a group of fifteen women of Gardner, last Wednesday night. The meeting was called to effect some sort of an organization which all the women of Gardner are invited to join. It is hoped to be able to meet once a month to spend the evening socially, and become better acquainted with our neighbors. And that a kindly interest in all the problems of the residents of our village, may be one of the results. Also that a spirit of friendliness and good will toward all, may animate every heart. Any suggestions as to the best way to bring this about will be gratefully received. The first meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moore, and at a suitable hour Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Shaffer, and Mrs. Morrow, served excellent refreshments, and the guests went out feeling that the evening had been well spent, and that the bonds of friendship had been strengthened, bringing pleasure and happy thoughts to all, and that another meeting was something pleasant to which to look forward.

Southern Women Fight Lynching

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., April 2.—Since last November 1 groups of influential women in eleven Southern states have organized state anti-lynching associations and have affiliated themselves with the Anti-Lynching Association of Southern Women, a south-wide organization perfected here last year.

Kentucky, which had a lynchless year in 1930, is the latest of the southern states to organize such an association, according to an announcement from the general headquarters here.

The aim of each of the associations is to do everything possible to eradicate all manifestations of the mob mind by building up through all available agencies a public opinion that will no longer tolerate them.

Virginia and Florida are the only two Southern states which remain to be organized, but plans are well advanced for their early enlistment in the movement.

Almira Home Prayer Service

Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, will conduct the prayer service this evening in the Almira Home, for the residents there.

The congregation of the church will participate in the service with musical numbers.

Police-Pickets Clash, None Is Seriously Hurt

Police With Drawn Night-Sticks Scatter Group Of Mine Pickets Today

PICKETS HAMPER MINERS IN SHAFT

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., April 2.—Tear gas and fire hose were called into play here today to disperse a battling crowd of several hundred men when police and pickets at the Dodge mine of the Glen Alden Coal company clashed over attempts of the pickets to restrain miners from entering the shaft.

Several heads were battered by police night-sticks but no one was seriously injured.

The clash occurred when striking miners from Luzerne county arrived at the Dodge mine and attempted to induce miners to stay away from work. The local workers declined and police were notified of the picketing.

Officers who arrived at the mine warned the pickets away and when they refused, turned loose the tear gas. The crowd still refused to disperse and firemen were summoned. Turning several streams on the milling crowd, the fire-fighters drove the pickets away.

Following the clash, Police Chief Rodway conferred with leaders of the picketing delegation and warned them to keep off Glen Alden property. The leaders agreed to obey the order.

Today's incident was the first move by Luzerne county strikers to induce Lackawanna county miners to join their walkout, denounced as "illegal" by mine union officers.

Candlelight Service Features Meeting

Impressive Service Of Great Solmenity Held In Gospel Tabernacle Wednesday

A candle light service Wednesday evening in the Gospel Tabernacle on Pearson street was held in memory of the death of Christ on the Cross and the church was lighted by candles only to remind the congregation of the darkness of the hour when Jesus died.

A full sized cross, raised on the pulpit, showing the nails and blood stains, added significance to the service, while the congregation sang "Rock of Ages" and "Nearer My God to Thee". The quartet sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Carry Me Back to Calvary Mountains".

A. T. Kissinger gave a suggestive reading, "Freedom of the Cross", after which the scripture lesson was read by the pastor, Rev. E. C. Anderson, and he explained the events leading up to the death of the Savior.

Instead of passing communion in the usual manner, the congregation gathered in small groups at the foot of the cross and participated of the Holy Sacrament while kneeling there. During the communion service Mrs. John Wink and Mrs. Avery Rigby softly sang "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

The unusual reverence and solemnity of the service was strongly impressed upon the congregation, as this was the first service of the kind ever held in the local church.

Be sure it's Kotex

if you want safe, sanitary protection

SAFETY! Security! A feeling of real protection—you simply must have those qualities in a sanitary pad. And to get them it is wise to specify Kotex.

Kotex, you know, is the sanitary pad that is shaped to fit. It absorbs laterally, which means that you get a larger area of protection than ordinary pads give you.

And you can wear Kotex on either side in perfect safety. It gives you the same degree of efficiency. Kotex stays soft. It is treated to deodorize. It is so easy to dispose of. Assures you of that daintiness particular women demand at all times.

Hospitals use quantities of Kotex for their women patients. They find nothing else so satisfactory.

Brothers' Trial Is Nearing End

St. Louis Gunman, Alleged Slayer Of "Jake" Lingle Soon To Know Fate

CLOSING ARGUMENTS PRESENTED TODAY

(International News Service)

CRIMINAL COURT BUILDING, CHICAGO, April 2.—Culminating nearly three weeks of sensational testimony, the case of Leo V. Brothers, charged with the murder of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, reporter, was to pass into the hands of a jury about noon today.

The fate of the reputed gunman of St. Louis was expected to be considered by the jury of twelve men after three final procedures in his trial; to wit, closing arguments by both defense and prosecution and the judges instructions to the jury.

Will Soon Know Fate

It is probable that Brothers will know his fate by nightfall.

Expressions of confidence that they will be victorious have come from both sides. That the jury will return a speedy verdict of guilt and the death penalty comes from the prosecution, while defense lawyers feel confident the state has failed to prove "beyond a reasonable doubt" that Brothers shot Lingle to death in a tunnel here last June 9.

Absence of a motive was the theme of defense attorney Louis Piquett's words to the jury yesterday.

"The question in this case," he said, "is who killed Lingle and why? Are the people of Illinois trying this case, or other interests? If it is the people, then why hasn't the state pronounced a motive?"

In view of the prosecution's failure to establish a motive for the murder of Lingle, whose slaying grew out of his associations with gangland, the defense hoped to have Judge Joseph Sabath instruct the jury accordingly.

Identified As Slayer

During the trial both sides have produced about the same number of identifying witnesses, eight of whom pointed out Brothers as the man who fled from the scene after the shooting of Lingle, while seven stated he is not the man who made the successful get-a-way from his pursuers.

Although it is expected the jury will reach a decision speedily upon getting the case, it is pointed out they may take long hours in deciding the question of Brothers' guilt or innocence. There were four possibilities as the case neared the jury:

A "hung" jury; acquittal; verdict of guilty with death penalty and verdict of guilty with imprisonment ranging from fourteen years to life. The term to be fixed by the jury.

INDIGESTION TORTURE ENDED

"I suffered for months with acid indigestion and gas on the stomach," writes Mr. C. Bedford of Detroit, Mich. "Couldn't eat a meal without being troubled with gas and pain, also dizzy feeling. I tried all kinds of medicines, but nothing really helped until I took ACIDINE. Got relief from the very start. Now I am entirely well, no pains at all. Have recommended ACIDINE to all my friends."

ACIDINE is the only known remedy which contains Japtase, that in laboratory tests, digests 800 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy foods which cause trouble. It neutralizes burning acids, soothes irritated stomach linings, stops gassy headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness. No other known remedy contains this combination to end acid stomach. ACIDINE also fortifies you against colds by reducing acidity.

Get ACIDINE today at your druggist. Watch how quick acid indigestion, burning stomach, belching, pain, heartburn, dizziness, fullness, short breath vanish. Eat, drink all you want. Maker refunds money if not delighted.

More Uniforms For Band Are Ordered

Every Member Of High School Band Will Be Outfitted For Coming Contest

When the Senior High school band goes to Oil City on April 24 to compete with other high school bands of the district in the annual Northwestern Pennsylvania Inter-Scholastic Musical contest, every musician will be wearing a uniform providing action taken by the board of education last night is productive.

J. F. Replogle, supervisor of instrumental music at the building, requested the board a month ago to supply 12 additional suits and caps, but the decision was delayed. An order for uniforms not to exceed $299 was authorized last night.

Director Replogle made the request for the reason that 12 of his musicians were without uniforms at the present time. It was pointed out that several new suits were needed anyway.

The New Castle senior and junior high schools take part yearly in the Northwestern section elimination.

To Probe School Room Lighting

Pennsylvania Power Company Expert To Make Survey Of School Buildings

Poorly-lighted school rooms here will get the proper attention during the coming month of school board investigators and lighting experts of the Pennsylvania Power company, the board of educators was told last night.

At a special meeting, March 14, complaints of the inadequate facilities now in use at some of the buildings were registered. Board Members A. C. Hyde was named chairman of a committee to investigate.

Mr. Hyde told the board the lighting expert has volunteered his services. Improvements will likely be recommended next month.

Rabbi Menkes To Discuss Freedom

Passover Is Oldest Festival Of Freedom — Services At Temple Israel

Passover is the oldest Festival of Fredom: as such it should be cherished and its lessons learned not alone by the Jew but by the world at large.

Freedom is the cornerstone of all morality, civilization and happiness, yet it is an ideal that is frequently misunderstood and wrong paths are followed to its realization.

Thus the World War was fought with the explicit aim of ushering in an era of greater freedom and universal democracy among the children of men, yet the results achieved are hardly in harmony with the ideals anticipated.

A great thinker has pointed out the fact that there is such a thing as "Freedom amidst Slavery and Slavery amidst Freedom." The goal we must strive for is "Freedom against Fredom." What then is the Essence of True Freedom?

The answer is given in the Hagadah, the story which the Jew recites in connection with the Seder or the Passover meal. It will be the theme of Rabbi Menkes' address at the Friday evening services at Temple Israel tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

After the services there will be a social hour with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gerson acting as hosts.

Saturday morning services at 10.30 a. m.

The pulpit flowers will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kline in loving memory of their father Gedaliah Kline.

Trees On School Properties Pruned

Pennsylvania Power Tree Experts Assist School Board With Work

Extensive changes now being made in the appearance of a large number of trees standing on four school properties about the city, were reported last night to the board of education by its special committee on trees. Member Roy Hazen, chairman submitted the report.

Work on the improvements has already been launched, the trees at the Thaddeus Stevens, Highland, North Street and Arthur McGill building being included in the work.

The Pennsylvania Power company, whose tree experts are doing the work, is cooperating with the board in every way to make schoolyard trees more attractive.

MILK RECEIPTS HEAVY

On an average 150,000 pounds of milk total the weekly receipts at the Grove City Federal Experimental Creamery, reports Manager Robert Flint, former head of the bureau of agriculture in South Dakota.

For the territory from which this is drawn it shows a marked increase in milk production, reports Flint.

The creamery has been operative since 1915. At one time its territorial receipts were from Greenville on the north to Butler on the south. For the present territory, of the Grove City community, the figures reported are outstanding.

The number of products made at the creamery are increasing each year. Cheese, cottage cheese, are similar well known derivatives of milk have been added.

Fine Speed Boat Bought By Davis

Splendid Inboard Motored Speed Boat Brought Here To Be Used At Conneaut Lake

John B. Davis, of North Cedar street, who has just brought a splendid new speed boat here from Salem, is planning to launch the craft on Lake Conneaut as soon as the weather permits and as soon as the lake is ready for boating.

The new boat is a marvel mechanically and in appearance. It weighs 1350 pounds and is maroon and yellow in color. It will carry seven or eight passengers in the comfortable front and rear seats. The passenger quarters are nicely padded with air cushions and in case of accident the cushions can be used as life preservers. Passengers can change cockpits if they so choose, while the boat is skimming through the water.

The engine is 40 horsepower and the steel boat can go easily at a speed of 30 miles per hour over a lake. It is guided by an automobile steering wheel and won't skid nor upset.

Young Davis, who is an art instructor, and son of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Davis, has christened the boat "Sara II". He has an outboard motor boat by name of "Sara I" named after his mother. This boat is at the present time in Edinboro. Davis has long been enthusiastic about good speed boats.

The new boat is in the Davis garage now, having been brought from Salem on a specially constructed trailor. It will be transported to Conneaut the same way and will be kept in the Davis boat house there. Later in the summer it may be given a tryout at Lake Chautauqua, N. Y.

Offer School Site For New Postoffice

School Board Sends Bid To Washington—Figure Not Revealed

The abandoned Martin-Gantz school property on North Jefferson street today stood officially offered as a possible site for the city's new postoffice, a bid having been prepared and ordered sent into Washington, D. C., by the board of education last night.

The Treasury department of the government has asked for bids on local properties, to be opened in the capital city on April 21. The school board bid was to be forwarded at once.

The estimate which the board tendered to the United States was the price set for its own North Jefferson street lot, the properties bordering having been offered to the government in separate bids.

It is understood the site as mapped out by the school board contains sufficient frontage and depth to meet the government specifications.

The bid figure was not disclosed.

Peterson's Ointment Healed Sore 18 Years Old

It seems rather a sweeping statement but Peterson's can back up the just claims of his powerfully healing and soothing Ointment with grateful letters from people who have been benefited.

Even one application takes out the soreness, starts to heal, discharge ceases—it instantly relieves piles, bruises, insect bites, chafed and itching skin—it banishes pimples, blackheads and Eczema in a few days.

One 35 cent box proves it—all drug stores.

Robert Phillips of New Salem, Ind., writes: "For 18 years I had an old fever sore on my ankle. I spent hundreds of dollars on it and found no relief. I saw your ad and tried Peterson's Ointment—it gave me ease and enabled me to sleep for first time in 7 weeks. I kept using it and now my leg is sound and well, thanks to you."

Simplified Refrigeration with the SERVEL HERMETIC

ENTIRELY NEW

ENTIRELY DIFFERENT

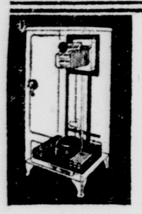

HERE'S an electric refrigerator that's wholly different from all the rest—that sets a new standard of household refrigeration for years to come.

The new Servel Hermetic is so simplified that it requires fewer moving parts than others. All the parts most likely to cause trouble have been eliminated entirely.

The working unit is hermetically sealed in a permanent bath of oil—to free you forever from the bother and expense of repairs in your kitchen—and placed in the base of the cabinet out of your way.

It's the quietest electric refrigerator ever produced (as shown by scientific tests). And it requires considerably less electric current to operate—gives you "carefree" refrigeration for fewer cents a day.

Come and see our complete showing of smart, new cabinets. There's no installation problem. The working unit is already installed. We simply set the cabinet in place and plug it into your wall socket.

READ THESE QUICK FACTS

Costs less to operate—Hermetically sealed refrigerating unit—No kitchen repairs—Fewer moving parts—Quietest ever produced, as shown by scientific test—Handy Temperature Control—More usable shelf space—Flat, usable top—Beautiful, graceful cabinets—Low prices—Generous terms—Covered by factory guarantee.

Board Delays Final Decision On Closing Of Lawrence School

Postponing final action until the members can get first-hand information regarding the Lawrence school closing situation, the New Castle board of education last night moved to reconsider its earlier action calling for the abandonment of the building at the end of the present term.

Sometime during the next few weeks, before the May business meeting, the members will make personal visits to the district to thoroughly acquaint themselves with the facts as they stand. This was agreed upon after the problem had again been discussed.

Residents Listen In

Two Seventh Ward representatives, Jordan Bailey and Nick Bender, present in the interest of the cause, spoke to the board during the evening. They attended merely as interested taxpayers, but represented no organization of residents.

What ultimately will be decided upon now rests upon the visit to the building. It will be decided in May whether the building will be kept open next term or abandoned.

As its March meeting the board, presented with figures showing a decrease in attendance at the building and a plan whereby the pupils might be better accommodated in the Terrace and Mahoning buildings, acted to close the building this June.

While a decerase in the school operation and an accompanying decrease in the district's budget would naturally incur from the closing of the Lawrence school, the board made known that it was not primarily for the reason of a financial saving that it was planning to close the school. It has made known that it has foremost at heart the welfare of the children.

A delegation of 25 or so from the affected section visited the board and protested its action when it assembled on March 14. After hearing the resident's pleas the board "tabled" the matter until last night's meeting.

Hyde Asks Change

Board member A. C. Hyde, representing the Seventh Ward section, strongly urged the members to reconsider what they had decided to do this being agreed upon such a motion had been made.

Arguments pro and con over the closing of it took up considerable time, President Dan Woolcock finally interrupting the discussion with the suggestion that Mr. Hyde present reasons why the March action should be reversed.

The reply of Mr. Hyde brought out that the per pupil cost at Lawrence school was not any higher or much higher than at the other buildings, and that no material saving would be affected here. He spoke also of the safety of the children, stating that it was his belief that every board member was trying to do the right thing by the district.

Board member A. W. Bauman expressed himself as being in sympathy with the district, declaring that after considering the matter further he had altered his position somewhat.

Hint Tax Raise

Roy W. Hazen, Mrs. John Elliott, Mrs. J. C. B. Douthett and other members also emphasized that the pupil must be the chief consideration in making a decision, but it was hinted that a raise in the tax millage might be necessary if the building is kept open.

The board, however, later in the meeting proceeded to set the millage at 16 mills.

Walter W. Duff, after hearing Mr. Bailey and Mr. Bender, pointed out that he himself was not prepared to vote conscientiously for or against the continuation of the building last night, and asked that more time be given.

With only a little discussion, the matter was "tabled" again until more information could be obtained. President Dan Woolcock urged the members to visit the building as soon as possible.

The Lawrence street building is an elementary building with a teaching force of four and an enrollment of 118.

To Relieve Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises.

If you have catarrhal deafness or headnoises go to New Castle Drug, Eckerd's or your druggist, and get 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength), and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water, and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

THIS is just another way of illustrating what we mean by Coast to Coast Service for motorists! The hand in the middle is "us"! The "other hands" stand for the "helping hands" we are also able to extend to you through our 25,000 "brother agents."

Says Horse Still Needed In War

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., April 2.—The war that is to be fought only by men and machines is remote in the future, according to Major General Frank Parker, commander of the 6th corps area, with headquarters here. He recently expressed his views in a booklet, "The Horse in War," published by the Horse Association of America.

"The World war," stated Gen. Parker, "brought out the fact that the horse never has been so useful in was as he is now. The horse and mule are more dependable than any machine for bringing supplies up close to the front lines."

Gen. Parker cited remarks by Gen. Pershing, Gen. Summerall, and Marshals Haig, Foch, Petain and Hindenburg to support his contention that the horse will be used in warfare for a long time to come.

JAIL SONS OF ALLAH

EL CENTRO, Cal., April 2—The register at the county jail resembled a page from the "Arabian Night" recently as the result of activities of federal immigration men. Seven Mohammedan Hindus were arrested for illegal entry. They gave their names as Ashod, Ali, Mahfuzur, Rahman, Adbul, Musibbar, Kermi, Ali, Raja, Claudhuri, Kurpan Ali and Habib Ullah.

Zion Lutherans Postpone Service

On account of the illness of Rev. J. W. Eckman, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church, the sevrices planned for Good Friday evening have had to be postponed.

It is anticipated that there will be Easter morning services.

Flat Rolled Steel Plants Are Working

Colonel Arthur Woods, Makes Report To President On Depression

National Association Of Flat Rolled Steel Employing 101,347

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 2. — By shortening hours of labor and providing for plant expansions the companies affiliated with the National Association of Flat Rolled Steel Manufacturers, has been able to hold employment up at 83 per cent of normal during the business depression, Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of the president's emergency committee for employment was informed today.

Woods had a report from George H. Charls, president of the organization, saying member companies are producing at present 65 per cent of the national output of flat rolled steel and have 101,347 men under employment compared to a normal of 122,565.

Part Time Basis.

"Most of our present employes are on a part time basis, four days per week on the average," Charls said. "Since production declined 32 per cent in 1930 as compared to 1929, it is obvious employment has held up well under the circumstances."

This result, according to Charls, has been obtained mainly by reducing hours of labor or by rotating shifts with unchanged wage scales. One firm reported an actual increase of employes due to stabilization measures and plant expansions.

Employment is being spread by the development of new products such as the rustless or non-corrosive irons and steels which are helping to keep some of the companies at fair production volume through the slump, the report showed.

Relief is Given.

Charls added:

"Aside from stabilization measures the extension of relief to needy employes has been found necessary by some members.

"Here is one steel steel mill president's method:

"'Through a committee that we have, no one goes hungry or lacks coal or clothes. We do not give this in the form of charity but extend credit in our commissary so that when the borrower can work he can pay it back. No honest workman is seeking charity—all he wants is work. In our plant so far, we have been able to share the work so as to give all something to live on even if it is small.'"

Identify Remains Of Murdered Man

"Earless Murder" Victim Identified As Former Weirton Steel Worker

(International News Service)

DENNISON, O., April 2.—The "earless" murder victim, whose body was found here last September 30, today was identified by Coroner J. F. Lewis as Angelo Rendino, an employe of the Weirton Steel Company, at Weirton, W. Va.

A cousin of the victim, residing at Altoona, Pa., completed the partial identification established through a metal mill number tag found in Rendino's clothing.

Rendino disappeared shortly after he began work at the Steel plant last September 28.

According to the Italian consular agent at Weirton, who aided in establishing identification, notes in a memorandum book found in Rendino's pockets indicated that he was exonerated last year of murder charges in connection with the death of a Youngstown man.

Wants Damages For Accident To Auto

Ralph F. Lingerman has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Dick Thompson, trading as the Lingerlight Dairy, as the result of damage to his automobile. Lingerman claims that he was driving along the road to Bessemer when the radiator of his car was struck by an iron rod on a Lingerlight truck. The truck was parked in a driveway and the rod, which was fastened on one side protruded into the road.

MIAMI, Fla., April 2.—Speeding toward the stricken city of Managua, Ernest J. Swift, of the American Red Cross arrived here this morning on a New York train and left an hour later on a Pan-American Airways plane for the earthquake zone.

Swift, director of Insular and Foreign Affairs of the Red Cross, was expected to be landed in Managua by 6 p. m. today, airway officials said.

A navy plane which was to have flown from Washington to carry the Red Cross official to Nicaragua failed to arrive and Pan-American officials set up the schedule of their regular passenger plane, due to depart shortly after noon, so that Swift might lose no time.

Public Confidence Needed For Growth Of All Industries

President Of United Gas Improvement Company Makes Annual Report

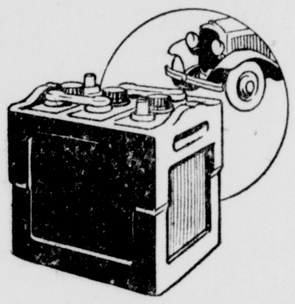

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 2.—Fair and effective regulation of Public Utilities is necessary in the best interest of the Public and of Utility stockholders, John E. Zimmerman, president of the United Gas Improvement Company, said today in the 49th annual report of the company.

The report shows net earnings of Ugi for 1930 032,810,744, an increase of $4,535,634 over 1929, and equivalent to $1.30 a share on common stock outstanding December 31, 1930.

Commenting on criticism of Public Utilities, Zimmerman declared that public confidence is essential for growth and development of the industry and that while Utilities "should welcome constructive criticism" they are called on to combat "such criticism as is manifestly unfair or is made by those endeavoring to prejudice the public or establish a political issue."

New Castle Firm Gets Big Contract

Sporting Goods Store Given State Contract For Athletic Supplies

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 2.—All athletic material used in state institutions in Pennsylvania for the next year will come from New Castle. Late Wednesday afternoon Secretary of Property and Supplies James F. Malone announced that the bid of the Sporting Goods Store of New Castle had been awarded the contract for the three districts comprising the state.

The award is one of unusual size for usually the bids are let for each district. The state is divided in three districts, one of which takes in the entire western tier of counties as far east as Clearfield, from there to and including Dauphin county is another district and the other district includes that territory lying east of Dauphin county.

In order to submit the bid Edward Connery, manager of the Sporting Goods store, came to Harrisburg on Tuesday and got the information necessary as to the method of filing. Previously he had filed bids by mail, with the result that two sporting goods companies, one in Harrisburg and the other in Uniontown, had been awarded the contracts.

The price quoted by Mr. Connery was much better than those of his competitors and instead of getting the bid for one district he was given it for the entire state. This means that such materials as baseballs, footballs, basketballs and the attendant paraphernalia used in indoor and outdoor sports used in state teachers' colleges, asylums, penitentiaries, reformatories and all other state institutions will be purchased from the New Castle concern in the next year.

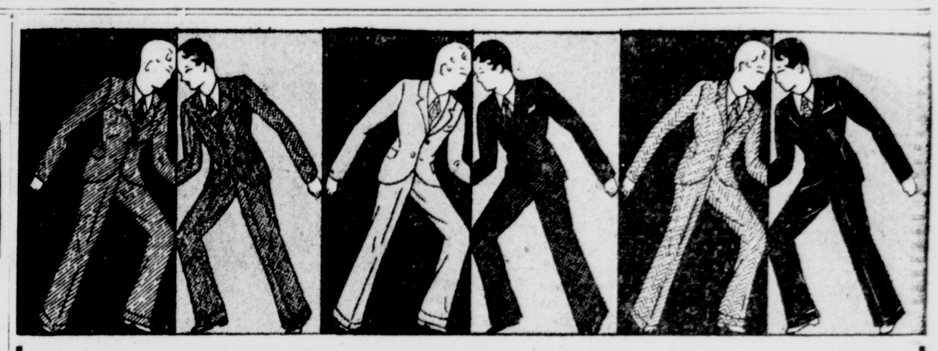

In submitting the bid Mr. Connery was forced to compete with concerns from all over the state and from New York City. The total of the contract cannot be estimated at this time but it will run into many thousands of dollars.

BOXING SOLONS SUSPEND ROCCO

Fails To Appear For Pittsburgh Bout; Reinstate Cangey

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 2.—Four boxers were suspended indefinitely at the regular weekly session here of the State Athletic Commission while two others were declared ill and unavoidable until they honor existing contracts with Pennsylvania promoters. Two other mittmen were reinstated.

Those punished with indefinite suspensions were:

Emmett Rocco, New Castle, Pa., Larry Conners, Pittsburgh, Johnny Datto, Cleveland, and Jackie Rodgers, also of Pittsburgh.

Al Fay, Charleroi and Joey Kauffman, of New York, were declared ill.

Paris Cangey, of New Castle and Martin J. Horan, of Avoca, Pa., were again placed in good standing.

While the commissioners were about it they concurred with the New York Commission in placing Frankie Genaro, flyweight title claimant, Al Santoli and Adam Chjacnaki, boxers, and Arpad Szucs, a wrestler on the suspension list for indefinite terms.

Paolino Uzcudun, the Spanish heavyweight, was reinstated following similar action by the Gotham commission.

Man Admits His Identity, Sought In Bank Failure

Frederick Brinkmann "Goes Into Philadelphia Court And Confesses

BIG REWARD FOR ARREST OFFERED

Brinkmann's Real Name Is Paul Wupper, Former Nebraska Banker

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 2. — An amazing double identity case—a 54-year-old Lothario held on bigamous charges revealed as a bank wrecker with a standing regard of $3,150 for his capture—was disclosed today as police voiced their conviction that "Frederick Brinkmann" is none other than Paul Wupper, fugitive former president of the Beemer State Bank of Lincoln, Neb.

Confirmatory identification records and fliers, in adidtion to a confession allegedly made by "Brinkmann," prove that he is the man sought for three years for the $1,000,000 defalcations which closed the doors of the bank, police say.

Brinkmann was brought into court on a charge of bigamy preferred by "Mrs. Hedwig Brinkmann," who claimed non-support and told the court Brinkmann had another wife living "out West."

Makes Confession

Court procedure followed the usual routine until Brinkmann turned suddenly to a bailiff and declared: "I want to confess!"

Skeptical court attaches asked the nature of the proposed confession. Brinkmann thereup wrote out a statement in which he said:

"I, the undersigned, am wanted in Lincoln, Nebraska, in connection with the closing of bank of the Deemer State Bank there in 1928 of which I was president." He followed up the statement with a telegram to Nebraska authorities, asking them to come and get him.

The Nebraska authorities acted with celerity. Sheriff Michael Endres of Lincoln notified Philadelphia police today he was convinced Brinkmann is the wanted man and that he is instituting extradition proceedings.

Deserted Two Wives

Meanwhile ,the bigamy was continued indefinitely, with "Mrs. Hedwig Brinkmann" denied her plea for support.

Brinkmann's confession, police said, reveals he deserted his wife and two children when he fled Nebraska, first going to Omaha and thence to Chicago, finally becoming superintendent of an electrical concern at Trenton, N. J. There he met Hedwig Hirsch, married her on February 22, 1930, later deserted her when he lost his job and was finally trailed to New York where he was arrested and returned to Philadelphia to face the bigamy charge.

A reward of $2,500 has been offered by the Nebraska State Legislature for Wupper's capture, bolstered by an additional $650 bounty posted by Nebraska citizens.

MAGNIFICENT ORGAN AT FIRST CHRISTIAN HEARD ON WEDNESDAY

choir master of Trinity Cathedral, Cleveland, Ohio.

Kraft is one of the best known concert organists in the country, and has also played in Europe and he showed to the utmost the wealth of tonal and mechanical resources of the beautiful new Kilgen organ, that was first heard last evening. His audience sat, wrapt in attention, interest, stimulated and not bored. His performance had style, rhythm and a technique whose flawlessness was remarkable.

First Number

Mr. Kraft offered as his first number Evening Song by Schumann, which indulges in quiet reflections on the charm of Twilight. The "Ave Marie," by Schubert, which is well known to all music lovers, brought out some splendid tones and magnificent playing: "Evening Bells and Cradle Song" by MacFarlane, gave the organist a splendid opportunity to display the wonderful tones of the cathedral chimes and echo organ; his rendition of "Toccata" by Tombelle was almost a recital in itself, being a brilliant example of the kind of music that taxes the technique of the player; it is made up of two contrasted themes, that were brought out in a beautiful manner.

Miss Garvin Sings

A delightful break in the instrumental numbers was offered at this time when Miss Rebecca Garvin, a local contralto singer, offered "The Lord Is My Light" by Allitsen. Miss Garvin's solo was greeted with much enthusiasm.

Kraft's handling of "Largo" by Handel brought out the serene dignity of its quiet beauty; his next number was "Berceuse" by Godard, a composition which has attained to an enormous degree of popularity, and has been transcribed for every combination of instruments; the "Minuet" by Bach followed and Mr. Kraft closed the first period of his recital with "Pomp and Circumstance" by Elgar; this military march is brilliant and rather flamboyant in style and the organist made much of the tonal effects at his command in giving this number to his hearers.

Donors Thanked

During the short intermission in the recital at this time, Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the church, gave a brief review of how the dream of a new organ for the church had been made to come true through the generosity of Mrs. T. W. Phillips, and her children, T. W. Phillips, Jr., Benjamin Phillips and Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson.

At the time of the remodelling of the church during the latter part of 1930, the congregation felt it was taking on too much to even think of a new organ in addition to the remodeling program, but through the generosity of the one charter member still living, Mrs. T. W. Phillips, and her family this was accomplished.

The organ is one of the finest productions of the Kilgen company of St. Louis and within its structure are six organs: the echo organ and chimes, the solo organ, which is the only organ of this kind in the vicinity; the swell organ, the choir organ, the great organ and the pedal organ. The organ chambers are pronounced to be the best that have ever been produced by the Kilgen company and although the vital parts of the organ are not seen, their importance is demonstrated by the player. The console of the organ is a replica of the one in Carnegie Music Hall, New York City, and the cathedral chimes are the same as those in the famous organ in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York City.

The hand carved oak grill which graces the front of the church auditorium and hides the organ chambers from the audience is of English Gtohic structure and the design is the same as that of the large stained glass window of the auditorium.

Recital Continues.

The second part of the recital began with two numbers by Wagner, and both from "Tannhauser": the "Pilgrims Chorus" and "Evening Star" which was the pathetic song of Elizabeth, and all the pathos of the song was brought out most vividly in the organist's touch; "Meditation" by Sturges was the next offering and its complete charm was expressed eloquently by the organ, under Kraft's masterly hand; the pleading melody, charged with sentiment, was sounded in the full tonal ornament; "The Lost Chord" by Sullivan gave the organist great opportunity for displaying not only his own skill but the full quality of the organ and its requisite parts.

Another break in the organ recital came at this time, when the recitative and aria from "Judas Maccabeus" by Handel, "Arm, Arm, Ye Brave" was sung as a baritone solo by Richard E. John. His offering was greeted with much applause. Mrs. Mary Virginia Patterson accompanied both Mr. Johns and Miss Garvin.

The "Sonata in D Minor" by Guilmant followed. This composition ranks among the finest organ compositions of modern times, the allegro is followed by a theme of great power and majesty and is followed by a theme of a quiet character which is ended with a majestic close, giving the organist opportunity to bring out the tonal quality of his instrument.

"Andante Cantabile" by Dethier gave Mr. Kraft the opportunity to fully bring out the pedal organ, the melody being produced by the pedals, wtih a beautiful figure in triple movement on the manuals; in "Le Cigne" (The Swan) by Saint-Saens it required no imagination to picture the stately bird moving sedately upon the placid waters as the music swung along.

Plays For Mrs. Phillips.

At the conclusion of this number Mr. Kraft was requested to play especially for Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, who after months of being confined to her home, was able to be present at the dedication of the organ Thursday night and in response to this request Mr. Kraft gave beautiful renditions of two of Mrs. Phillips' favorite hymns: "Abide With Me" and "In the Cross", which he played with beautiful effect on the different organs, bringing out beauty in the hymns that one had not noticed before . This compliment to the one who had made the organ possible was accorded the proper recognition by the audience.

The grand finale of the recital was produced in "The Ride of the Valkyries" by Wagner, which brought out every tone in the organ, from the far off echo to the powerful tones of the great organ, which resounded through the room as Mr. Kraft displayed his most finished talent through the wild, barbaric elements of the composition.

Closing the program Dr. Bennett thanked the musician, on behalf of the congregation, and then presented Mrs. T. W. Phillips with a huge mass of red roses, as a gift from the A. C. T. class of the Sunday school, who in this manner expressed their joy at her being able to be in the church once more and for the wonderful gift to the congregation.

To Dedicate Organ.

Sunday evening the organ will be formally dedicated to the worship of God in a pre-service recital by Mrs. Mary Virginia Patterson, organist of the church, at 7:30.

Seated with Mrs. T. W. Phillips were her daughter, Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson; her sons, T. W. Phillips, Jr., and Ben Phillips of Butler; her granddaughters, Winifred Johnson and Mrs. Norbert Garbisch of Butler, as well as Dr. Norbert Garbisch and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Barber of Butler.

At the close of the recital Mrs. Phillips was greeted by her friends and congratulated upon her miraculous recovery from the accident she had last November, when she fell and broke her hip.

Mine Committee To Make Move To End Big Strike

Striking Miners Await Action Of Grievance Committee Saturday

LEWIS REFUSES TO TAKE PART

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 2.—Striking miners of the Glen Alden Coal company and their leaders today awaited the meeting of their general grievance committee Saturday afternoon as the next step toward definite action to bring their walk out to an end.

Leaders of the strike, denounced as unwarranted and illegal by John L. Lewis, international president of the mine workers' union yesterday, had nothing to say concerning Lewis' refusal to come here to take a hand in the affair and his order to strikers to return to work at once. Beyond stating that they were disappointed that Lewis had failed to come here or send a representative to confer with the general grievance committee, strike leaders were non-committal.

Indications today were that a move will be made Saturday to end the strike and bring the men back to work before efforts are made to adjust the grievances for which they walked out.

Many strikers and committee delegates, it was reported, are now convinced that there will be no adjustment unless the strikers return and pointed to the stand of Lewis and district union officials as evidence supporting that view.

Both the international head of the union and district officials held that under the joint wage agreement between the miners and operators, no grievance can be adjusted unless the men are at work, and all officials urged the strikers to return to their posts.

ALLEGE YOUTH CONFESSES PART IN BANK ROBBERY

ready today to start this evening for Detroit to bring back Harold Holt, alleged confessed member of the bandit gang that held up the First National Bank of Volant on August 25, 1930 and escaped with $2500.

Word of the apprehension of Holt was received by the county detective this morning from Chief James E. McCarty of the Detroit police department. Holt was apprehended by the Detroit police late Wednesday afternoon.

Lee said this morning that Holt had made a confession to taking part in the daring daylight robbery of the Volant bank. The telegram from the Detroit police indicated the bandit had waived extradition proceedings from Michigan.

Lee and Rocks will leave New Castle for Detroit tonight.

The arrest of Holt climaxed a lengthy correspondence carried on between County Detective Lee, the Allegheny county detective bureau in Pittsburgh and the Detroit police department.

Continued Probe.

Since the robbery Lee had continued the investigation quietly. He began to correspond with a man known as "Guy Hill" of Detroit, who, according to Lee, had written here that he knew of a local bank robbery, but was not sure whether the men who pulled it were responsible for the holdup of the First National Bank of Volant, or the robbery of the bank at Verona, near Pittsburgh several months ago.

Lee communicated with Chief McCarty and asked for assistance in tracing down the Volant robbery suspects. The Detroit authorities interviewed "Guy Hill."

The events that followed developed into the arrest of Holt Wednesday afternoon.

According to Lee the arrested man made a confession in which he named accomplices in the robbery.

Robbery Was Sensational.

All agencies of the law in Lawrence county combined to solve the Volant robbery a short time after news of the holdup had been flashed to New Castle and vicinity.

The holdup was made by two men who entered the bank while Philip Cox, the cashier, was alone in the bank office, early in the afternoon of August 25, 1930.

The pair approached Cox and one of the visitors asked the cashier to cash a check. Before the cashier could see the check things began to move quickly. Cox said afterwards he did not see a check. Instead the pair pulled revolvers and said:

"This is what we want".

One of the pair—the shorter—went behind the bank counter and scooped up silver and bills, while his companion covered the cashier with his gun. They then forced Cox into the vault and made their escape in a fast automobile. Miss Mabel Simpson, assistant cashier, returning from lunch freed Cox and spread the alarm. The bank's loss was entirely covered by insurance.

From what can be learned this afternoon, Mrs. Vera Phillips is a native of the district east of Volant, having resided in the country district and not in the borough.

yesterday the $1,000,000 national palace with its precious government records had to be abandoned to the flames.

Destruction Continues

The recurring but less violent shocks occasionally sent whole rows of weakened walls tumbling into the debris-choked streets, further endangering rescue squads and spreading fresh panic among the survivors.

Strangely similar to the familiar processions of war refugees which clogged the roads of Europe during the war, these often half-clad and hungry quate victims faced weepingly away from their stricken home city and set off for strange regions. The poorer ones walked barefooted through the dust alongside oxcarts, trucks and limousines. A few gestures of farewell came from the hundreds of other survivors encamped under trees and along the road.

In the city, martial law prevailed and with it came a sort of death-like hush. Only one case of looting has been reported, with native activities confined to those searching the ruins for missing family members of bits of property.

Few Americans Killed

The fatalities among Americans, as far as could be learned, remained at three but dozens of others were injured.

President Moncada and his cabinet joined hands with United States Minister Matthew E. Hanna in coordinating relief forces until outside help can penetrate. After a long conference it was decided that residents should be encouraged to evacuate the city for nearby centers, as first surveys indicated that the city must be rebuilt from top to bottom. A preliminary report showed that no single structure in the city is absolutely safe.

Additional Quakes

ABOARD U. S. S. ROCHESTER, April 2.—Severe additional earth shocks again jolted Managua at 8:10 last night, the commandant of the Fifteenth Naval District at Balboa informed the U. S. S. Rochester today.

The remaining airways radio station at the Nicaraguan capital has been temporarily abandoned, the dispatch added, this being the last message sent.

Taxpayers To Receive "Easter Shower" Today

New Castle letter carriers will have plenty of work to perform today as the city treasurer, Louis McClung today mailed 25,000 "Easter cards" to taxpayers.

Instead of the cards carrying the image of a rabbit and a half dozen vari-colored eggs the cards will show the assessments for 1931-33, inclusive. The only taxpayers who will not receive their cards today reside in the Second ward.

Their cards will be send out during this week. The delay in sending out these cards were due to the revision board meetings and time consumed by the clerks in writing the cards after the board had heard approximately 400 objections.

Aviation Laws To Be Tightened Up

Tragedy That Took Life Of Knute Rockne And Seven Others Causes Action

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—A review of the whole set of laws governing commercial aeronautics, with a view to tightening up regulations and providing additional safeguards, will be undertaken by the new congress as an aftermath of the tragic western air express crash in which Knute Rockne and seven others died on Tuesday.

Rep. James S. Parker (R) of New York, chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, which drafed the present code of federal regulations, declared today that he was convinced the laws need tightening up and that his committee would review the whole code.

Rev. R. E. Schulz At Trinity Church

At the last of the Wednesday evening services during the Lenten season in Trinity church last evening, the Rev. R. E. Schulz, rector of Christ Church, Warren, Ohio, who was the special preacher held the congregation spell bound while with ever increasing interest on the part of his listengrers he described "The Miracle," as it was presented in Cleveland, Ohio six years ago.

He made a contrast between Christ's determinate purpose to go up to Jerusalem to suffer and to die for humanity, the fulfillment of his vocation in life, and the purposeless life of the nun in the play after she had given up her profession in life.

GLENDALE, Calif., April 2—An up-to-date "Raffles," has been operating here and is the dread of Glendale householders. The bold bandit plunders home while the occupants are away, usually raiding the ice box, then plundering the entire house. After calmly emptying dressers, strewing their contents everywhere, he rarely takes anything. As a parting insult the candid housebreaker leaves his calling card, an "ace of spades."

WOULD BAN CIRCUSES

SACRAMENTO, Cal. April 2—The "big top" is doomed in California if a bill under consideration today is passed by the legislature. The measure introduced by Assemblyman Harry Lyons of Los Angeles makes it a misdemeanor to hold circuses carnivals, exhibitions, fairs or any performance in a tent or other inclosure of inflammable material.

Federated Women's Clubs Of Lawrence County Make Report To Section Leaders

The annual meeting of the South Western district Federated Women's clubs met in the Hotel Schenley on Tuesday, March 31. Eighteen women from the Lawrence county federation of clubs and five from the Women's club were in attendance from New Castle.

Mrs. John A. Frick president of the State Federation and judge Sara Saffel were the speakers of the day.

The interest of the meeting centered upon the reports of the activities of the different county Federations.

The following report given by Mrs. S. D. Pearson, vice-president of the Lawrence County Federation is of interest to all since it mirrors the stirring of women's influence in our own community.

In addition to the report that follows, Mrs. W. C. Eckenroad was called upon to report the work of the Conservation Department which included the splendid activities of the Garden club that won for them the gold medal offered by the State Federation of Garden Clubs. The medal was displayed and won the admiration it merits.

Those present from New Castle included Mrs. W. L. Campbell, Mrs. J. L. Whitten, Mrs. Louis Gordon, Mrs. J. L. Emery, Mrs. A. G. Murphy Mrs. S. E. Crawford, Mrs. L. R. Pangratz, Mrs. Harry Marshall, Sr., Mrs. W. W. Sniff, Mrs. S. D. Pearson, Mrs. W. C. Eckenrod, Mrs. R. A. Long, Mrs. W. A. Taylor Mrs. Albert Treser, Mrs. John McNeill, Mrs. C. W. Mayberry. Mrs. J. G. Gates and Miss Rebecca Bowden.

The reports of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's clubs for the year 1930-1931 (March to March) as presented follows:

Meetings are held monthly on the third Tuesday from September to July. Board meetings at 11 and a program in charge of various departments is put on at 2 o'clock.

All departments have been most active this year, and it will be possible in the time allowed to give but the briefest account of work done. Much of importance must be omitted.

The new department. American Citizenship put on a program with speakers from the International Institute and Sciota street Mission. High school students gave splendid talks on various phases of government. Mrs. Byers and Mrs. Haddock were guest speakers for the occasion.

Another new department—The Blind and Deaf has had amazing success. Mrs. Clifford C. Taylor and Miss Lida Kerr Wilson gave most interesting talks at the February meeting. Wimodausis has given ten subscriptions to "March of Events" for the use of the Lawrence County blind. A book in Braille is being purchased by the cooperation of the clubs. The Circle of '23 is sponsoring a sale of towels made by our blind—300 having been disposed of to date. Jewish Council sponsored in December a sale of articles made by the blind. We assisted the Lions club financially in giving a dinner for the blind of the county.

The Club Institute committee put on a most interesting meeting in January.

The Educational department is sponsoring a Women's Edition of the News ,our local paper, in the near future. The members are also working for better Magazines better Films, clean Advertising, better English etc.

The Fine Arts department is comprised of three clubs—Art club who had recently a pupil of Lorado Taft as guest speaker—College club working along dramatic lines and Music club. The former gave a one act play "Pierrot and Columbine" at their guest night, and the latter had an exceptionally fine open meeting in December. They also furnish the music at our meetings.

The Home department has many activities. All clubs make scrap books for children in the hospitals. The librarian reports she has trouble keeping them for the children because the adults in the wards are so anxious to have them to. Handkerchiefs were made as gifts in hospitals at Christmas time. Gifts of comforts, clothes, food etc were many. One of the clubs clothed six children. Plants were sent to the County Home, Almira Home etc.

The Hospitality committee has served "tea" after the afternoon programs and made arrangements for the annual banquets held in May of each year.

Much work was accomplished by the Health committee. Last spring it held examinations of pre-school age children. 237 were examined in 7 schools. 14 doctors and 10 nurses gave their time and Parent-Teachers Associations cooperated whereever possible. This winter it worked in the schools giving milk and graham crackers lunches to pupils in the elementary grades. $230 was raised for this purpose and during the weeks when the work was necessary over 200 gallons of milk were distributed. In the senior and junior high schools students were fed in the cafeterias at cost—sixty dollars being used in this way.

The work of the committee on International Relations has been confined to letters and resolutions urging action on the world court treaties. It also presented a fine program and speaker on "World Peace" at the January meeting .

The Legislative committee has held regular meetings, studying both National and state bills. Letters, telegrams and resolutions sent have been many. The Talbot bill, Maternity-Infancy act, Eugenics bill, Mothers Assistance Fund etc were all endorsed.

Neighborhood House at Sciota Street does marvelous work among our foreign born, among its activities are

1. A baby clinic each Tuesday.
2. A Circulating library with an average of 900 users monthly.
3. A Sunday School Mission with a membership of 150.
4. Bible classes and sewing classes.
5. An adult English class whose teacher is paid by the Federation. It meets three nights a week.
6. Last July, the Federation raised $428 and sent 53 girls from this center to the Y. W. C. A. Camp.

Twelve nationalities are frequenters and approximately 200 families are reached.

The department of Public Welfare cooperates with all the organizations for relief work. Because of Hard Times this committee has been most active.

Each week, the Publicity Department has a splendid column in the daily paper. The subjects chosen are pertinent to both national and local projects.

The Committee in charge of Scholarships has several to report

1. The Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips Horticultural Scholarship for $100 given by Reading Circle.
2. The Grace Marquis Greer Scholarship for Seniors only of $150 given by the entire Federation.
3. The College Club Scholarship of $300 annually in which the girl may chose her own college.
4. The P. E. O. Sisterhood maintains one girl at Slippery Rock State Normal from its own funds and is instrumental in getting funds from its national organization for a scholarship at Westminster. Last Month the P. E. O.'s presented Ruth Bryan Owen to a New Castle audience and gave a reception for her which was attended by representatives of all clubs in the vicinity.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

EGG PRICES IN PENNSYLVANIA AMONG HIGHEST

Average Price Of More Than Twenty Cents Per Dozen Being Paid

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2.—Pennsylvania parents who want to take the role of the Easter rabbit for their kiddies this year will have to pay more for their eggs than the residents of a large majority of other states in the country, with the exception of eight North Atlantic States, Delaware, Florida, and Arizona, it would appear from a farm price survey conducted by the department of agriculture.

In its study, the department finds that farmers of Pennsylvania are receiving for their eggs on local markets an average price of 20.1 cents per dozen. This average price, according to the survey, is higher than the price received for eggs in the country as a whole or in any other of the forty-eight states with the exception of the North Atlantic States, Delaware, Florida, and Arizona.

The average egg price of the country as a whole amounts to 17 cents per dozen as compared with the Pennsylvania price of 20.1 cents. The Massachusetts egg price is highest throughout the country and is listed by the agriculture department as 30.1 cents per dozen.

The average price being received by farmers for their eggs in the North Atlantic States as a whole is reported as 22.4 cents or an average slightly more than that being received for eggs in the Keystone State.

Martin's Lawyer Presents Plea To Cleveland Jury

Closing Arguments In Martin Trial Are Being Heard Today

JURORS MAY GET CASE LATE TODAY

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, April 2.—Playing the state's case of circumstantial evidence, William Minshall, defense attorney for "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, on trial for the murder of William E. Potter, today maintained the innocence of the defendant in his closing argument to the jury of seven men and five women.

Minshall's argument was to be followed by the final plea of Prosecutor Ray T. Miller to send Hymie to the electric chair for the brutal slaying of the former councilman. The jury was to receive the case this afternoon.

The defense attorney presented to the jury what he said were "26 reasonable doubts in this case". One of these doubts, which he said should bring acquittal, was the "lack of a motive".

Curtis May Not "Choose To Run"

Unimpeachable Authority In Capital Says Curtis Not To Run Again

WILL AGAIN SEEK SENATORSHIP

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Vice President Charles Curtis has made no definite decision yet, but his present inclination is to retire from the vice presidency next year and stand for the senate again from his native Kansas. This was learned today unimpeachable authority.

Probably no final decision in the matter will be reached for some months, but the vice president's closest friends in the capital believe that he will "not choose to run" on the ticket with President Hoover in 1932. Curtis stepped from the senate into the vice presidency, and it would be an unique thing to step back again.

To Visit Kansas.

Curtis expects to leave Washington in a few weeks for a long visit to Kansas. He has been there only infrequently since he became vice president. He wants to survey the field, talk with his friends in the state, and get a first-hand glimpse of the political conditions.

The senator whom Curtis would oppose next year is and when he decides to make the race, would be George McGill, a Democrat, who upset the political apple cart last November by defeating Henry J. Allen. He is the first Democrat Kansas has sent to the senate in many years and some of Curtis' friends have urged upon him that McGill probably will be re-elected unless opposed by a candidate of the vice president's strength in the state. Curtis was 12 years in the house and 22 years in the senate from Kansas.

Relations Friendly

While the relations of President Hoover and Vice-President Curtis have been friendly enough since the 4th of March, 1929, it is no secret in Washington that they are of different schools. In the pre-convention campaign, when Curtis himself was a candidate for the nomination, Mr. Hoover had no more pungent critic or stronger adversary than Curtis. Some of Mr. Hoover's friends have never forgiven Curtis for one bitter remark that the Republicans would not nominate him (Hoover) "Because they won't nominate a man for whom they would have to apologize to the country." That stung deeply and it has not been forgotten.

Curtis' retirement would throw the field wide open for the Republican vice presidential nomination.

There are candidates galore. Periodically Washington is regaled with gossip that Postmaster General Brown is the heir apparent, or that Secretary of War "Pat" Hurley is to get the call. More recently, rumors were afloat that Theodore Roosevelt, now governor of Porto Rico, was being considered.

It would upset no precedents for the Republicans not to renominate a vice president. The precedents, in fact, are the other way. With the single exception of "Sunny Jim" Sherman, who was renominated in 1912 with Taft, the Republicans have renominated none of their vice presidents since Lincoln's time. The general theory is that new blood is desirable on a ticket on which a president is re-named.

When Mrs. Rebecca W. Merer of Philadelphia made her will, she added a codicil requesting that her granddaughter keep her watch wound for her sake.

THERE IS POETRY ABOUT THE YOUNG EASTER BRIDE

There is a poetry about the Easter bride and bridesmaids, says Lucien Lelong, that comes probably from that optimistic glamor reawakening casts upon everything about her. Sweet simplicity is the smartest keynote for the Easter wedding, and indeed, it has been remarked in Paris that the more exalted the bride the more subtly simple the rhythm of the wedding ceremony. At one brilliant affair a bridal gown of white crepe satin was cut with ample skirt and little hip peplums lined with pale pink which lent reflections of mother of pearl. A satin train was attached to the shoulders. It was entirely covered by a tulle veil bordered in antique lace, fixed on the bride's hair by a shirred Florentine cap of satin edged with lace. Her maids of honor wore pastel blue and carried white violets and the flower girls wore pale pink Kate Greenaway frocks and poke bonnets. For the Easter bride's flowers what could be more appropriate than Easter lilies?

Disorderly House Raided By Police

Heavy Fines Are Imposed This Morning By Mayor W. H. Gillespie

Last night Lieutenant of Police Peter Hillers, Detective John Young and Officers M. J. Young, Richards and Moore staged a raid at the home of Thomas and Tony Marcella, 513 Friendship street. The two alleged proprietors, Thomas and Tony Marcella and three male visitors were arrested. This morning Thomas Marcella was assessed a fine of $100 and Tony Marcella a fine of $25 on charges of being the keeper and an inmate of a disorderly house. The three male visitors were released following their arrest on forefeits of $10 each. They did not return for the hearing this morning.

State Health Department Head Discusses Water Supply In Pennsylvania

"The prolonged drought has emphasized to many Pennsylvanians as never before the vital and fundamental part that water plays in the lives of human beings. And, as is well known, next to air, water is the most common thing in nature. It is found in our homes at the spigot, or in the country, where a well or spring furnishes the needs. Few people perhaps realize, however, to what extent health officials are concerned in the problem of the protection of safe drinking water for the public," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health, today.

"In metropolitan centers, cities towns and boroughs, literally millions of dollars in the aggregate have been expended to insure consumers against the possibility of contracting diseases. Moreover, thousands of dollars are annually spent in Pennsylvania alone for the examination of individual water sources along the highways and in the more remote rural sections.

"Speaking generally, public supplies are free from contamination and disease-breeding bacteria, and therefore amply fill all requirements of nature and health. The same, however, can not be said to individual wells and springs unless they have been scientifically tested and have thus had their quality actually determined. As a matter of fact, the majority of the waterborne typhoid fever cases in this commonwealth in the last few years have been directly traced to polluted personal supplies.

"But there is still another water problem which deserves attention at this time, namely, the use of bottled water. This feature of supply undoubtedly is becoming increasingly popular. Indeed, it is safe to say that within Pennsylvania's borders there are more than 300 distributors of this commodity. The basis for this popularity is personal preference for pure water in an untreated state.

"There certainly can be no objection to this practice provided that the bottled water is actually what it is supposed to be—safe and pure. But is is right here that caution and personal interest are demanded.

"Investigation led to the unmistakable conclusion that a number of bottlers were careless in the cleaning of containers, while others were doing little if anything to protect the supplies from surface or underground pollution. The Law of 1929 resulted.

"The statute requires all purveyors of bottled water to file an application with the secretary of health. No permits are issued by him until the supply has been chemically, bacteriologically and physically examined. It also calls for a label on each bottle indicating the permit number, name of bottler and trade name of the water, if any.

"It is therefore suggested that consumers of this product should only purchase from concerns or individuals who have complied with the law. It must be forgotten that there are many types of springs—some good, some average, some bad.

"Bottled water users pay for protection and original purity. They are to get what they pay for. The label is the guarantee. Is it on your bottle?"

PLAN NEW YALE BUILDING

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 2—Contracts have been awarded for the construction of a building to house Yale Daily News, the oldest college daily, which now occupies rooms on Berkeley Oval. The building is to be of Gothic design, three stories high, and will fit in with the fraternity group on York street. The structure is to be a memorial to the late Britton Haddon.

County Is Sued In Peculiar Case

Slate Blown From Butler Court House Injures Workman

BUTLER, Pa., April 2.—Dallas M. Sarver, superintendent of the Butler County National Bank and Trust building, entered suit for $25,000 today against the county of Butler and its commissioners. Exactly two years ago today Sarver was injured when a piece of slate was allegedly blown from the roof of the courthouse and to the roof of a building across the street where Sarver was at work. He was struck on the head and became unconscious. Sarver charges in his petition that he was required to spend several weeks in a Pittsburgh hospital and that in a Cleveland hospital he underwent 125 special treatments for injuries to spine and neck. It is alleged that Butler county commissioners were negligent in permitting the roof of the courthouse to remain in a dangerous condition. In the accident two years ago the piece of slate was blown about 75 feet.

1300 Calory Reducer Diet Calculated

No Royal Road To Leaning, Says Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Here is the diet as calculated on the basis we agreed upon yesterday. Approximately 1,300 calories, divided roughly into 300 for breakfast, 600 for lunch and 400 for dinner, with 200 grams of carbohydrate, 70 to 75 grams of protein and 20 to 25 grams of fat.

	Calories
BREAKFAST
1 large orange	100
Cream of wheat (2 heaping tablespoons)	100
Cup of coffee with cream and sugar	100
	300
LUNCH
1 portion celery	30
Lean meat (breast of chicken)	200
Squash (2 heaping tablespoonsful)	25
2 slices bread and butter	85
2 tablespoons ice cream	200
Glass skimmed milk	70
	610
DINNER
Cup clear broth	...
Lean fish (cod or halibut) 4 ounces	150
Cauliflower (3 heaping tablespoonsful)	20
1 slice toast with a little butter	75
1 baked apple with a little sugar	140

One comment on this is necessary. In actual practical dietic work exact results need not be demanded. Actual weighed parts of food do not come out exactly according to calculations without great expense of time and effort. That way madness lies. If you come within 50 to 100 calories one way or the other you will do no harm, at least in reducing treatments, so long as you do not eat fudge and raise the diet progressively 100 calories a day.

Food scales are a bugaboo, but until you learn to know the weight of average helpings you will need them. As I have said before, there is no royal road to leaning. Get-thin-quick schemes are dangerous as well as uncertain.

Humbly and tentatively I suggest to Mr. Walter Winchell for his "Things I did not know until now" column, the following:

That a species of small intestinal worms can now be seen with the X-ray. (The trick of the technique is to give the patient a thin oatmeal feeding: the oatmeal has barium mixed in it: barium throws a shadow on the X-ray plate. The worms eat the oatmeal and suddenly a string-like shadow appears on the X-ray: it being the worm's intestinal tract.)

WOMAN ADMITS ARSON, IS PAROLED

LISBON, Ohio, April 2.—Mrs. Ella Bradfield of East Liverpool, was placed on probation for six months by Judge W. F. Lones today after she pleaded guilty to an indictment charging she burned her home with intent to prejudice the insurer. The state fire marshal's office approved the suspended sentence. The fire which occurred last December, caused $200 damage.

Miss Pulliam

Miss Lottie Bell Pulliam, Knoxville, Tenn., writes: "My appetite was poor. I had lost weight—was nervous and could not sleep well at night. In my rundown condition even my joints ached. I took seven large size bottles of S.S.S. It greatly improved my condition. My appetite picked up. My weight was restored and I now feel fine—in fact, I feel like a new person. S.S.S. is a splendid blood tonic and I recommend it to my friends. My mother also took S.S.S. and it renewed her strength." You, too, will want to take S.S.S. Rich Harlem Negro Is Shot To Death

Paul Quarrels, 42, One Of "Big Four" In Policy Game, Shot And Killed

(International News Service)

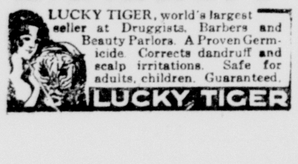

NEW YORK, April 2—Paul Quarrels, 42, negro, said by police to have been one of the 'big four" in Harlem's million-dollar-a-Week" policy game was shot down and killed by a lone assassin today.

According to the authorities Quarrels was to have been called within the next few days by Referee Samuel Seabury as a witness in the appellate division's inquiry into magistrate's courts. The investigation is now concerned with the "policy" game, described as a "gambling racket."

Success of Old Timers Day, inaugurated in 1907, is due in no small measure to the efforts of the small group of men who met that year organized the Old Timers association, and supervised the first Old Timers Day at Cascade park.

This group continued to act in the same capacity from year to year wiht the help of others appointed as their original numbers were depleted by death, until the present time, when there is but one of the original group living and he is still active in the affairs of the association as they are held each year.

This original number of the present Old Timers association is Harvey E. McGoun and his health permitting, he will again act this year.

The deceased members of this committee were Wells B. Clendenin, chairman; J. S. DuShane, secretary; Scott D. Long, treasurer; David I. Campbell, Dr. James K. Pollock, William L. McConnell and Charles C. Sankey.

Ellwood Men Are Summoned Before House Committee

Ellwood City Municipal-Owned Utility Men To Give Testimony

PROFESSORS ARE ALSO SUMMONED

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 2.—Continuing its hearings, after the first night session it has staged, the house utilities investigating committee today was scheduled to hear Prof. Stacey May of the economics department of Dartmouth college, Edward W. Moorehouse of Northwestern university and editor of the Journal of Land and Utility Economics, and representatives of municipally-owned utilities in Chambersburg and Ellwood City.

The committee, it was assured today, will continue its hearings indefinitely, with May 1 as a possible quitting date.

That was indicated when it became known that in an executive session the committee had voted 5 to 2 in favor of continuing indefinitely. It was reported that Representatives Moore, Memolo, Chester A. Rhodes, Richards and Hagmaier, administration members of the committee, had voted favorably on a resolution for indefinite continuance while Representatives Turner and Bowers voted to quit now and make a report.

Action is Taken.

Action concerning the ending of hearings was taken as the result of adoption by the house of a resolution fixing April 22 as the last day for introduction of bills. Members of the probe committee opposed to indefinite continuance wanted to stop hearings so a report could be made and legislation introduced before that deadline.

Those favoring indefinite continuance were sure the house would accept utility legislation after April 22 if it could be shown it was sufficiently important.

The program of the house now is to continue the hearings as long as necessary regardless of time required, but with an idea of quitting by May 1. A full week will be needed, Chairman Moore estimated, to hear additional testimony in the Scranton-Springbrook water rate case alone.

Technical Testimony.

At last night's session, the committee heard William W. Colledge, accountant, testify that alleged manipulations by utility holding companies benefited by control of common and preferred stock.

Colledge's testimony was largely technical and he introduced an additional mass of figures which went into the record.

Miss Iva Jackson Pleasing Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, April 1.—Miss Iva Jackson delightfully entertained a few friends at the home of Mrs. John Young in Glen avenue last night.

The home was appointedly decorated in Easter colors which presented a lovely appearance.

Bridge was the chief diversion of the evening, with four tables being at play.

A lovely luncheon, served by the hostess, concluded the events of the evening.

Banquet Plans Have Been Changed

Mothers And Daughters Banquet To Be Held On April 15 Instead Of May 1

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.—In order to cooperate with Miss Corinne Menges a return missionary home on furlough from South America the mothers and daughters banquet of the Trinity Lutheran church has been advanced to Wednesday, April 15 instead of May 1, as originally planned.

The Missionary society will be in charge of a vesper service on that evening at 8:00 o'clock to which the public is invited as well as the members of the society.

Miss Menges is of a missionary school from the South and has an instructive address to deliver. The talk is very interesting from which many valuable points will be derived. Churches of New Castle, Zelienople, Evans City, and from the Beaver Valley have been invited to attend. Persons who have been privileged to hear Miss Menges are very profuse in their praise of her personality and ability as a speaker as well as the message she brings.

The Missionary society is very grateful that Miss Menges will spend some of her time in Ellwood City and advise some of the people.

M. L. Bridge Club Members Guests

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.—Mrs. John Vangorder with delightful hospitality entertained the members of the M. L. Bridge club last night at her home on Orchard avenue. The meeting place was gorgeously decorated in lovely Easter flowers and colors which exceedingly brightened the occasion.

The earlier hours of the evening were entertainingly spent around the card tables with two being at play. At the conclusion of the games it was found that Mrs. Earl McDivitt and Mrs. George Harris were the prize winners.

The events of the evening were closed with a delectable menu served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hugh Holliday.

The club will meet again in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Fred Rutter on Orchard avenue.

Quartet Will Sing On Friday

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2. — The First Church of God will feature an unusual program Friday evening in the church rooms. Appearing there at 7:45 will be the famous male quartet traveling in the interest and under the auspices of the Anderson College and Theological Seminary.

The quartet is composed of Frank Towers, Cadillac, Mich., first tenor; Earl Wells, Winchester, Kentucky, second tenor; Streeter Stuard, Oklahoma City, baritone; and Oral Clemens, Oakland, California, basso.

The famous and popular quartet will be in this city just one evening with the service beginning promptly at 7:45.

To Clean Schools During Vacation

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.—An extensive program of cleaning and repairing will be undertaken in the local schools during the Easter vacation of the students. The program will be carried out in all of the school buildings of the city.

It is evident that the controversy between the school board and the contractors of the Lincoln auditorium floor have reached some satisfactory agreement since a new floor will be placed in the auditorium during the vacation. Men will be working there Friday, Saturday, Sunday, and Monday and hope to complete it before the end of the school vacation the following day.

Hearing Continued In Ellwood Case

BEAVER, Pa., April 2—Hearings of Fred Loeffler, golf pro, and Pete Bentel and Frank McKiough, caretakers, Ellwood City Country Club, Ellwood City were continued by Justice David B. Stewart until April 9.

Irwin Herge and Anna Swartz, North Sewickley township, had preferred charges of assault and battery and breach of the peace against the three men it was reported. They charged that while crossing the golf course they were stopped and that a fight ensued. Friends of Loeffler say he was not involved in the affair.

Mrs. Emma Martin Buried Wednesday

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.— Mrs. Emma Pamelia Martin was quietly laid to rest Wednesday afternoon from the Emmanuel Reformed church of which she has been a faithful member for a number of years, with Rev. Hugh D. Maxwell officiating.

Many bereaved relatives and friends had sent floral tributes to a beloved member. Interment took place in the Locust Grove Cemetery.

Johnson Will Go To Capital

To Attend Meeting Of Pennsylvania Academy Of Science

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.—V. V. Johnson of Fourth street an employee of the National Tube company will leave some time today or early Friday morning for Harrisburg where he will attend the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Academy of Science of which he is a member, and will be held on Friday and Saturday.

The academy is a research organization which meets annually to determine any new developments in the scientific world.

Mr. Johnson is probably the only person in Lawrence county who will attend this meeting. The organization is mostly made of college and university professors of Pennsylvania.

The local man has been connected with the tube plant for a number of years in which he has done a bit of research work in the field of mathmetics. He is on the program at the meeting of the academy in Harrisburg Friday at which time he will submit a paper of original research work before the mathmetical section of the organization. The paper is entitled, "An Application of Indeterminate Analysis to the Geometry of the Triangle".

Mr. Johnson has also been requested to speak to the mathmetics department of the local high school.

Knox Church Names Officers

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.—Most of the officials of the Knox Presbyterian church were re-elected for another term last night at the annual congregational meeting of the church. The officers are as follows: elders, Mr. Swick and Mr. Anderson; trustees, Robert Sedoris and Carl Eicholtz; chairman of the congregation, John E. Nagle; secretary of the congregation, Mr. Burkett; Sunday school superintendent, John E. Nagle; assistant superintendent, Mr. Stratton. The treasurer of the church was left to the board of trustees to elect. Also other officials were to be chosen by the Sunday school teachers.

After the business meeting refreshments were served in the basement of the church and a social time following.

Morning Services Are Well Attended

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.—The attendance at the early morning passion week services is increasing with every service.

This morning Rev. Cuff of the African M. E. church occupied the pulpit and delivered a very interesting sermon. He used as his text the first verse of the 13th chapter of John. Miss Estella McDougal was the leader of this occasion. Also at this time the women's quartette of the A. M. E. church sang a selection—"Out of the Ivory Palaces" accompanied by Miss Marjorie Streeter at the piano.

Friday morning Rev. Arthur M. Stevenson will be the chief speaker and Miss Inez Zeigler is the leader.

Squabble On Type Of School Light System Near End

State Bureau Man Arrives To Iron Out Wrangle Over Emergency System

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.—The year-old controversy between the Pennsylvania Bureau of Inspection and contractors of the hydro-electric emergency lighting system in the Lincoln high school this city is expected to end soon. John Campbell of the Bureau of Industrial Standards of Pennsylvania has returned to Harrisburg following an inspection of the system built in the Lincoln high.

As yet no definite action has been taken on the subject. The system which has met with disapproval by the Bureau of Inspection was installed in the school by a Pittsburgh company. The state men maintain that the apparatus in the lighting system for emergency purposes has not met with the specifications of the commonwealth and would not approve the installation.

The school has remained in a neutral position during the arguments between the contractor and the state. The visit of Campbell will probably hasten the controversy to a close since an opinion on the fitness of the lighting system is expected to be filled by Campbell, an authority on the question.

Mrs. Clifford Elder Is Honored Guest

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.—Mrs. Clifford Elder was completely surprised last night when her mother, Mrs. R. W. Gettings, and sister, Mrs. Clarence Fuerry, had prepared a party in her honor and had invited several local and out-of-town guests, all friends of the guest of honor.

The evening was entertainingly spent around the card tables, which was followed by a lovely menu being served by the hostess. The guest of honor was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

Those present on the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. M. C. McCracken and daughter Margaret Louise, Mr. and Mrs. George Gettings, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Elder and sister Isabelle, Elsie Beer and Mamie Avery, Richard Elder and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gettings and Mrs. Clarence Fuerry and son Biddie.

Special Passion Week Services

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.—A fine crowd was present at the specail passion week services of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church last night with Rev. A. Marsany delivering the chief sermon. It was an instructive address and carried a worthy message.

This evening services will continue with the pastor of the church, Rev Paul H. Elliott, occupying the pulpit. Rev. Charles Z. Bell is the chief speaker for Friday's services.

DOREMUS CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.—Mrs. Chris Haswell will be hostess to the members of the Doremus Bible class Friday evening at her home in Second street.

Confidence

Confidence cannot be bought. It must be earned.

It grows slowly, having its roots deep in the lives of those around us. Confidence is that beautiful blossom which flowers between friends, that intangible "something" which takes years to create but which a single word or action may cause to wither and die.

For the past 18 years we have jealously guarded the confidence New Castle has placed in us. In every transaction with each customer we have faithfully adhered to those underlying principles which are so necessary in order to earn the confidence of the public.

We have found it a solid foundation upon which to build a business.

Dissension Is Causing Trouble For Several Of National League Teams

Chicago Cubs And St. Louis Cardinals Wrecked By Dissatisfaction

"Dizzy" Dean, Colorful Pitcher Of Cardinals Adopts Method Of Art Shires

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 2—According to reports reaching here from various sources today, dissension and dissatisfaction is causing considerable unrest in the ranks of several big league baseball clubs.

In two instances, the dove of peace is said to have "taken it on the lam" and flown right out of the training camp.

From California comes a story of discord in the lair of the Chicago Cubs. Rogers Hornsby, new pilot of the Bruins, is alleged to have been "riding" Kiki Cuyler, Hack Wilson and Pat Malone. The rough and ready methods of the Rajah, always a hard taskmaster, are said to have irritated several Chicago players who resented the dismissal of Joe McCarthy as their manager.

These stories can be discounted to a certain extent because some of McCarthy's many friends in Chicago have been only too ready to predict just such a development, but where there is smoke there may be a little fire.

Cardinals Unsatisfied

There is no doubt that an unsettled state of affairs exists in the ranks of the St. Louis Cardinals. Outfielders Chick Hafey's refusal to sign a contract for less than $14,000 and the eccentricities of Pitcher "Dizzy" Dean, baseball's most colorful rookie since Art Shires, have caused manager Gabby Street to rave and tear his hair.

The chief trouble with dean, a pitcher of great promise, seems to be that he is a twelve o'clock fellow while Bradenton, the Club's training site in Florida, is a nine o'clock town. In addition to disregarding the curfew, the 20 year old rookie frequently has neglected to report for morning practice, according to street. Dean's latest exploit was to take a day off to go fishing, whereupon Street barred him from the camp and declared the rookie could quit the club as far as he (Gabby) was concerned.

Carnegie Five In Third Round Of Ohio Tourney

CAMPBELL, O., April 2—Playing a cool and deliberate brand of basketball throughout the contest, the fast Carnegie quintet of this city advanced to the third round of the Mahoning Valley Junior floor tournament, in Campbell, Ohio by winning a clean cut 29-13 victory over the Lowellville, Ohio five on Wednesday night.

The green and white clad boys looked impressive as they captured their 37th win of the season. Frank Vigali, Campbell and J. Uram lead the attack for the Carnegie passers Schaler and Kinkelly were the best for the losers. The next opponent for the Carnegie team is the Amandolora Five today.

The summary:

Carnegie 29		Lowellville 13
Gallagher	F	Myers
J. Ross	F	Schaler
Vigali	C	Giblong
Campbell	G	Kinkelly
Reiber	G	Schreckengost

Substitutions: Carnegie, J. Uram, B. Cooper: Lowellville, Mellegans, Carhelenty. Field goals: Shaler 2, Vigali 4, J. Uram 3, Reiber 3, Gallagher 1, Campbell 3, Kinkelly 1, Carhelenty 1.

Fouls: Carnegie 1 out of 6: Lowellville 5 out of 13.

Referee—Justice.

Home Street Five Tumbles Unknowns

One of the best games played on the Home street floor this season was played on Monday when the Home Street five tumbled the Unknown "5" by a 17-16 score.

DeCaprio and Baraterie featured for the winners with Genock and J. Ross the best for the losers.

The summary:

Home Street 17		Unknowns 16
DeCaprio	F	J. Ross
Gairdo	F	Corio
Rozak	C	Offredo
Genock	G	J. Genock
DelRoss	G	L. Ross

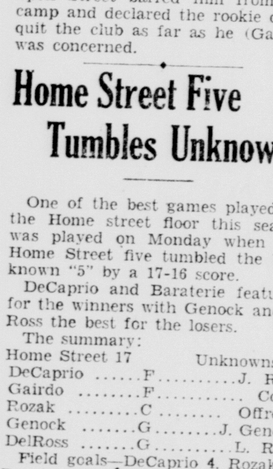

Field goals—DeCaprio 4, Rozak 1, Baraterie 2, Corio 1, J. Genock 3, L. Ross 1.

Fouls—Home Street 3 out of 4, Unknowns 7 out of 8.

Training Camp Notes In Brief

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—The Pirates today held another victory over the Chicago Cubs in their series here as a result of trouncing Hornsby's men yesterday 11 to 7.

Led by Pie Traynor, Pittsburgh third sacker, the Pirates scored seven runs in the fourth. Traynor got "four for five" at bat, one of the hits being a home run.

BILOXI, Miss.—The Senators trimmed the bewhiskered House of David by a score of 19 to 8, gathering 23 hits. Judge, Manush and West hit homers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—A right-handed pitcher named Davis, although allowing the Detroit Tigers 11 hits during the Tiger-San Francisco Seal game yesterday, kept the hits well scattered. The Bengals did not cross home-plate until the seventh. The seals took the game 6 to 3. Davis fanned hard-hitting Charley Gehringer, Tiger outfielder, three of his five times at bat.

CHATTANOOGA—If rain stays away today, the New York Yankees will face Virne Beatrice Mitchell, baseball's first girl pitcher. Miss Mitchell, a slim lefthander, was disappointed when rain postponed the game yesterday. She said she had not pitched a game since last season.

MACON—The Brooklyn Robins will face Macon today, rain having washed out both of the Robins-Reds games.

LITTLE ROCK—The New York Giants were to play the Chicago White Sox here today, after several afternoons of idleness because of rain.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.—The A's rookies play the Williamsport, Pa., team here today and join the regular squad for the trek north. Connie Mack announced today that Al Simmons would appear in the first game of the city series between the A's and Phillies at Philadelphia Saturday.

PHILADELPHIA—Rained out of their scheduled contest at Asheville, N. C., yesterday, the Phillies were scheduled to arrive back home today.

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—The A's regulars meet play here today, weather permitting, then rejoin Connie Mack and the rookies for the trip north.

AT LEWISTON, ME.—Frank Garcia, Jersey City bantamweight, defeated Harry Roberts, Boston, 12.

Anything Can Happen When Four Fist Fly

Anything can happen when four fists fly and the 'anything' occurred Monday night when Joe Sekyra scored a technical knockout over Gene Stanton in the second round. Before the bell, had a 'page' been taken few fans would have picked Sekyra to stop Stanton as Gene had scored on points over Emmett Rocco and Sekyra had failed to stop Emmett though he was within a shade of it during the first session of their bout.

Sekyra had an edge in the first round but it was a "break" that Sekyra grasped that helped put him across. Stanton has a grievous fault of carrying his chin high and his head was in this position when Sekyra shot a left to the face and a right to the jaw sent Stanton down. He leaped groggily to his feet and reeled. The referee, with thoughts of what happened at Johnstown when Sammy Harris was fatally injured in a bout with Mickey Duris, stopped the bout.

SOMETHING ABOUT JOE AND HABITS

Sekyra is one heavyweight who believes in being warmed up for action before he enters a ring. While preliminaries are under way, whether or not they are being staged here he makes it a practice to shadowbox and go through other exercises in his dresing room. As a result he is generally covered with perspiration and his body is twinging for action when the first bell rings. Too many boxers enter the ring "cold" and do not get going properly until they have battled through several rounds.

Battling Nelson was a slow starter, likewise George Chip, the former middleweight. In one of the latter's fights on the coast his manager had Ship encased in a steaming blanket when he entered the ring. That was in his second fight with Billy Murray. In the first Chip didn't get started and win until around the fifteenth. In his second fight he put Murray away in probably half a dozen sessions. If a fighter is in condition a little exertion doesn't sap his strength before he enters.

TALKING ABOUT MAKING MATCHES

Matchmaking is a job that lasts from 7 a. m. until 7 a. m. with no intermission and a matchmaker receives many headaches. What may look good on paper may turn out to be o frost and what may look like a frost may turn out to be a whale of a fight. For instance here is what occurred prior to the last show.

Joe Laposkey was matched to box Homer Gray. He broke a hand in training the first day. Merle Gibson had to be found, sent into training. Lew Wallace was matched to box Tommy Arnold. While training an old forehead gash was reopened and Al Shiek was substituted. Al's boss threatened to fire him if he laid off the day of the fight so Eddie Kaufman was substituted. And then the day of the battle. Al Gruver on the morning of the fight weighed five pounds more than Jackie Ward.

GRUVER GOES TO BATH TO REDUCE

This caused a howl from the Ward clan. They charged and rightly so that Gruver had not honored his articles of agreement and the weight which was 124 was made 126 by both parties. Gruver went to the bath, sweated off several pounds while Jackie swallowed a couple of glasses of milk and his weight bounded up. As a consequence they both were about weight and the fans witnessed a good fight.

Tommy Arnold the Union township bearcat who fought Eddie Kaufman is coming right along and will probably be mated with a better opponent for his next scrap though there are many who would like to see Kaufman again. Mike Keller who outpointed Tommy has given up boxing and this grieves Tommy. He wanted to get a return bout with him.

JOHNNY BANKO IS RECUPERATING NOW

Johnny Banko, the hard-hitting lightweight of New Castle is recuperating in the New Castle hospital. He underwent an appendix removal recently. As soon as his ailment was diagnosed Jimmy hustled to a hospital and he is able to smile now, according to Bob Latera who believes that some day his Banko kid will become famous.

He is the second that Bob has managed who has had an appendix removed. Eddie Flick underwent such an operation and is now ready for battles. Flick has been staying around his home town, Oil City. He leaped into the limelight here when he stopped Jackie King. The latter is not in the mitt game anymore. He is located in New York state.

Cotton club boys in South Carolina are getting an average yield of 1,800 to 2,000 pounds of seed cotton per acre this year.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Ahem. There's a new "Shires." This time the chap spoken of is Jerome H. Dean, 20-year old rookie hurler for the St. Louis Cardinals and someone has dubbed him "Dizzy the Great". His pitching has won over Manager Street but Vice President Hickey considers him as a probationist. According to reports from the south he left a trail of I. O. U's in Bradenton, Fla., for soft drinks, flashy clothes and anything else that struck his fancy. He draws $400 a month. Secretary Clarence Lloyd now has "Dizzy the Great" reporting every morning. He receives $1, each day and that is all he is allowed to spend for the day.

Gene Sarazen, golfer had a good winter. He won $8,332 in eight winter events. George Von Elm was second high with $7,957.50, and John Golden, third with $7,790.

Marty Gallagher who walloped Gene Stanton in a 10 round bout at Boston has hurled a defi at Joe Sekyra. Gallagher is an Irish-American, 24 years old and is in the same stable as Jim Maloney.

Morrie Suber wants to take a crack at any of the local 165 pounders. Morrie is big, rangy and is only 19 years old. With proper tutoring he should land somewhere. He will start training today in a local gymnasium.

Arrangements are under for the Speedway at Altoona to open July 4, instead of Flag day, according to Ralph Hankinson, new operator of the track. The change in opening dates resulted from a conference with A. A. A. officials.

Art Highland, Northwestern U. competing unattached, won the 100 yard championship, the first of the National A. A. U. swimming meet at Chicago. He finished ahead of Manuella Jalili, Hawaiian of the Hollywood, Cal., A. C.

Johnny Datto and Jackie Rodgers have been suspended by the boxing commission for their unsatisfactory bout at Pittsburgh, Monday night. Emmett Rocco has also been suspended for failing to honor his contract with a Pittsburgh club.

Among the reinstatements is that of Paris Cangey of New Castle who fought Mickey Duris here when Pete August injured a hand and was unable to meet Sam Bruce. Cangey since knocked out Johnny Kusic.

Unemployed Ask Board For Chairs

A formal request from the Unemployment Council of New Castle for 60 school chairs to be used in connection with its educational work here, was presented to the board of school directors last night.

The board tabled the matter until later.

A memorial to Lief Ericson, Viking discoverer of North America is planned for Grant Park Chicago.

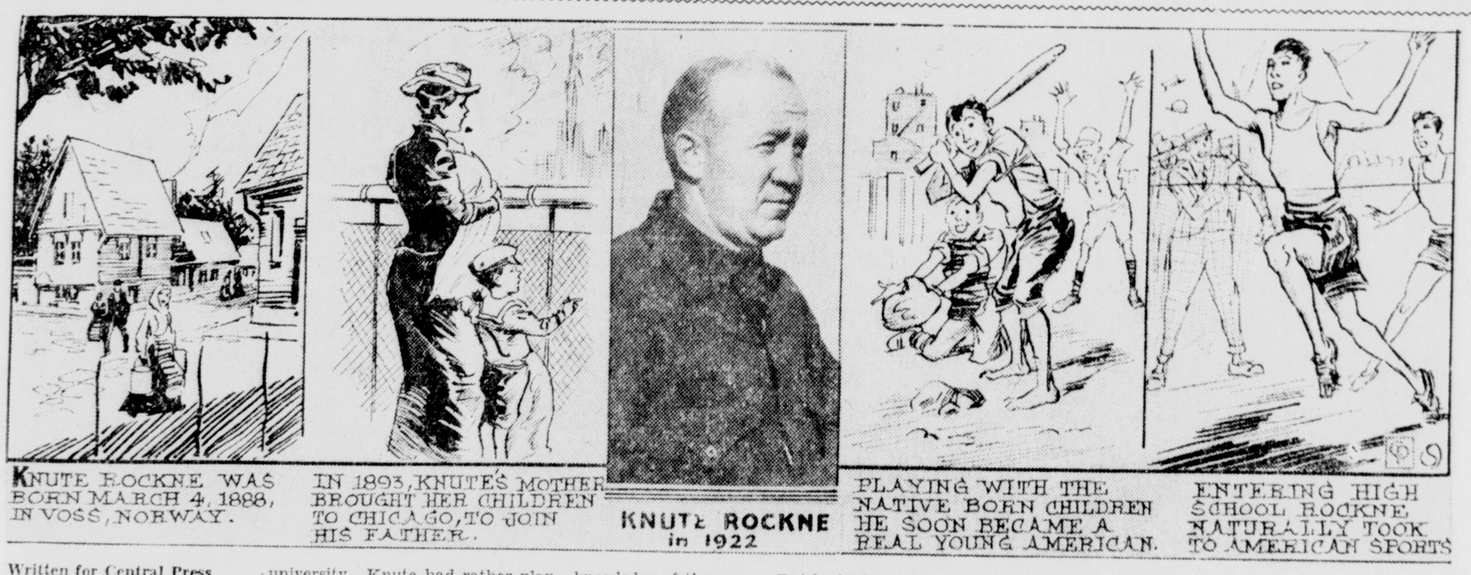

Practices For Gridders Will Start On Monday

Athletics will get into full swing on Monday afternoon at Taggart Field. On one side of the field there will be a number of track candidates strutting their stuff around the cinder path. Another section of the field will be used by gridders.

William L. Klee is in charge of the track men at the present while Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh will have charge of the football players who will start training on Monday in preparation for a spring night football game which will be staged at Taggart Field on the eve of April 24. Academy high of Erie will be the opponent.

The main purpose of a spring football game is to give the coaches an opportunity to see what kind of material will be on hand for the forthcoming season. The idea which originated here last year was tried with New Castle opposing Chanes of Youngstown. The game was a success in every way. Now the same idea will be worked again and officials of the local school feel that more interest will be shown in the coming event than in the inaugurals one which saw the New Castle high gridders go down to defeat.

Life Of Knute Rockne — 1st Installment — By R. J. Scott

Written for Central Press
By W. R. WALTON

Knute Kenneth Rockne, genius of football, whose untimely death has stunned the sport world, took his first step on the path that led to football coaching supremacy when in 1910 he borrowed $45 and with two Chicago chums boarded a day coach for South Bend.

Rockne's two friends had persuaded him to enroll in Notre Dame university. Knute had rather planned on entering the University of Illinois, following graduation from Tuley high school, Chicago. But he wanted to be with his chums. So instead, he became a student in the then virtually unknown Indiana school.

Strangely enough, Knute gave no thought to football on entering college. He had played on his school team, but had only a rudimentary knowledge of the game. But he had been very proficient in track and field athletics, having scored many points for his high school in that field of sport.

Rockne, the son of an ambitious Norwegian carriage maker, was born March 4, 1888, in Voss, Norway. The family came to America when Knute's father, Louis, entered a specially constructed carriage he had manufactured in Norway to exhibit in the Chicago World's Fair. Louis Rockne brought his wife, Martha Gjermo Rockne, and their children with him. Knute was then only five years old.

The Rocknes settled in Chicago and there little Knute played with the native born children of the neighborhood and became in short order a very thorough-going young American. Thus when he entered high school he took naturally to American sports.

Even at that age young Rockne displayed the determined, resourceful character which led him to the peak of his profession. Entering athletics he became a star athlete—that was Rockne's way.

HAPPENINGS IN WORLD OF SPORT

Central Press Sports Editor.

If you suffer from boredom gazing at the familiar round countenances of George H. Ruth and Lewis R. Wilson at the head of the home run parade you may get a change this season.

Activities in training have suggested a growing possibility that neither the Babe nor Chicago's Homing Hack may repeat this year their slugging triumphs of 1930.

If such takes place neither player need break down and weep. Both have definitely demonstrated to the public that they know how to loft a ball over the fence. Come what may, they are two of the greatest home run hitters of all time.

Hack's National league homer title this season will be endangered by the ambitions of a number of spry, sturdy young men who have announced their intentions of knocking the ball loop-legged, and annexing Wilson's crown.

Outstanding candidates are Gabby Hartnett, Cub catcher and a teammate of Hack's, and Wally Berger of the Braves. Chuck Klein of the Phils, who has been a holdout, is expected to be back in there when the season starts, eager to regain the championship which he lost to Wilson.

Hartnett this spring has returned to his old full swing with which he cracked out many homers several years ago. Berger's showing in training camp indicates Wally has found his batting eye.

Meanwhile, Wilson hasn't been setting California afire with his hitting. But that may mean little. Hack seldom does his best hitting in training camp.

The case of Babe Ruth is different than that of Wilson. Ruth is so far ahead of his contemporaries in the home run art that if he willed he could probably lead his league once more.

However, it may be significant that Ruth in camp this spring has been running out his shorter hits, even hurling his bulk in a slide to gain a base. It seems that the Babe is concentrating more on base running than long distance hitting.

Perhaps McCarthy figures the Babe will be of more value this year as a keen base runner than a slugger. If the Babe has been ordered to do a little machine gunning with the stick and forget the Big Bertha business it is probably o. k. with him. He's the No. 1 man of the home run business now, has been for 10 years, and always will be.

ROCKNE AND GIPP, PERFECT COACH, PLAYER PAIR, UNITED AGAIN

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Sports Editor

"Well, well, well," George Gipp must be saying, just about now, "look who's here! Welcome home, Rock!"

And there in that happy land, beyond the black, where the stadium is of silver, the goal posts of gold and all games are won, those two whose friendship and affection became one of football's finest sagas must be clasping hands in joyous grip again.

Boy and man. Player and coach. George Gipp and Knute Rockne. Synonyous since 1920. The boy Gipp died for Notre Dame a decade ago. And the man Rockne never forgot.

Gipp idolized his coach in life. To Rockne the spirit of Gipp was always alive and vibrant. When the blue backs of an Irish team were jammed against their own last line Rockne could see it. And he could make others see it, too. That's why Notre Dame so often stiffened at the brink and drove forward to incredible victory.

Luck? Please be serious. It was what the spirit of a boy, dead 10 years, and the doctrine of a great football leader, then alive and on the sideline, stood for—the inability to admit defeat before the whistle blew.

Notre Dame's great chain of football triumphs welded by the gridiron genius of Knute Rockne and stretching over ten brilliant years was made solely possible because Rockne was an artist whose touch was a bit more deft and whose strategy just so much keener than those of the rest. But the thought of George Gipp did the trick in the tough spots.

Gipp died just as the winter snows were clouding the campus of Notre Dame. Suffering from a severe sore throat Gipp kept his ailment a secret as he played the Army game in 1920.

That game was a battle royal 'twixt titans. A fine Army eleven smashed into the blue line and Cadet cleets drummed a song of victory as the gold-jerseyed horde led by Wally French swept to the goal line again and again.

But Notre Dame wouldn't quit. His face chalky white in the gloom of late afternoon, George Gipp fought like a fury until the enemy cracked and a blue form shot over the line with the winning touchdown. Then he wept when Rockne, his friend and coach, removed him late in the game.

Though exhausted, Gipp hid his condition and later played in the Northwestern game, racing 92 yards to a touchdown and hurling a long pass for another. It was the last superb gesture of a super player. He never played another game. Pneumonia attacked the boy's weakened body and in his little room just off the campus he died.

Rockne, who idolized this boy who was everything a perfect football player should be, was with Gipp when the end came. Knute's face would change in later years when he told how Gipp looked up and spoke a few last words.

"Rock," Gipp whispered, "if ever a game comes in which the school is facing a licking just tell them to win that one for the old Gipper!"

Rockne went out of that room to the highest peak of fame a football coach has ever known. Later Rockne eleven repeatedly swept the country clean of foes. The Nomads of Notre Dame and Knute Rockne became the football counterparts of the Golden Horde and Ghengis, the Great Khan. Proud eastern teams felt the Irish heel. Sturdy southern elevens went down before the blue wave. The ramparts of the far west crumbled before the Notre Dame attack. The central states, homeland of the Nomads, became their kingdom.

But Rockne never forgot George Gipp.

Not so long ago Rockne told a Notre Dame team, facing a formidable foe, what Gipp had asked on his deathbed. Notre Dame won that day.

After Gipp there came many Notre Dame stars. There were the Four Horsemen. The Seven Mules. Garvey, Oberst, Castner, Lieb, Cofall, Carberry Stuhldreher, Crowley, Layden, the Millers, Cerney, Walsh, Collins, Bach, Degree and Kizer. And then Chevigny, Boeringer, Parisien, Prelli, Colrick, Flanagan, Voedisch. And then Moynihan, Cannon, Law, Twomey, Metzger, Conley, Vezie, Schwartz, Mullins, Elder, O'Connor, Savoldi, Brill, Carideo—.

But Rockne never forgot George Gipp.

Rockne's was a stern but honest code. He wanted no quitters, no big-heads, no cheaters in the battalions he led to battle. He held no brief for the softies, the "hotel lobby athletes," as he termed them.

On his way to the Pacific coast, to confer with movie officials about making several football pictures Rockne knowing he was also needed back in South Bend for spring football practice, chose the quickest route. A tremendously busy man, he took a coast-bound plane. Death struck with lightning-swiftness from the skies. Rockne died—on the job.

BOWLING COLUMN

The New Castle Works duckpin teams have ended their season and the Hot Mill team with 21 victories and 15 defeats led the league. The Shipping Department team and the Annealing Room was tied with 19 victories and 17 defeats for second place. The high average man for the league was Hurn, with the excellent average of 151.3 for 74 games, a most remarkable record, and one that Mr. Hurn can be proud of. Second high was Ernie Smith of the Office team who had 149.3 for 56 games. Allsopp was third with 147.1 for 64 games. High score for one game during the season went to John Lewis who rolled a 252 score, second high score, one game is held by Gwilym with 229. Ernie Smith has high score for three games with 609. The Tin House had high total for one game with 907. The league was a big success this year and the officials are very well pleased with the cooperation.

Stock Prices Irregular; Market Is Dull Today

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, April 2.—Stock prices were irregular this morning in one of the dullest of pre-holiday markets. A few of the Industrial and Utility stocks fell off a point or more in the first hour ,but trading on the big board was close to the vanishing point, with only 200,000 shares changing hands in the opening half-hour. On the other side, new advances were recorded for McKeesport Tinplate, Bethlehem Steel and other market leaders. United States Steel sold at 139½, unchanged from yesterday's close, and McKeesport moved up 1½ to a new high at 103⅜.

While awaiting the results of the directors' dividend action, Industrial Alcohol dipped to 38. The directors cut the dividend from $6 to $2 a share annually, stating that surplus account would be unimpared by that rate and that the cash position of the company is very satisfactory. The stock then rallied sharply to 41½ up 2⅜ from the previous close.

Traders in Wall Street were hesitant about "loading up" with stocks on a day preceding a full holiday and a half-session to follow. That accounted to a large extent for the falling off in activity on the big board, but tardiness in the business recovery also had its effect. New weakness in Warner Brothers 6 per cent bonds, which dropped off 3 points to 50½, unsettled the stock of the company, which sold under 11 for a loss of 1 point.

Fox Film lost about a point as Wall Street anxiously awaited authentic information with respect to the proposed plans and methods of meeting the $55,000,000 note issue on April 15. Rails, Coppers and Oils, though unaided by favorable reports, held steadily near Wednesday's closing range. Call money was unchanged at 1½ per cent.

George L. Maltby Dies At Jamestown

Mrs. C. C. Dixon of 203 West Grant street is in receipt of word of the death of George Langford Maltby of Jamestown, N. Y., who passed away Tuesday morning at the W. C. A. hospital following a serious operation.

He was a nephew of the late C. C. Dixon of New Castle, and grandson of the late Rev. Maltby, who at one time was pastor of the First M. E. church here. He was president and general manager of the Jamestown-Westfield and Northwestern railway.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Gladys Broadhead Maltby, and son, George Langford Maltby, of Jamestown, N. Y., the latter a student at Yale; one sister, Mrs. James Reed, of San Francisco, Cal., and one brother, Edward D. Maltby, of Los Angeles, Cal.

Owing to so many distant relatives who will attend the services, the funeral was held until this afternoon and will take place at St. Luke's Episcopal church at Jamestown. The body will lie in state from one to three o'clock.

Former Resident Dies Last Night

Daniel Williams, of Sheridan avenue, received word today of the death of his brother, D. W. Williams, of California. Mr. Williams, who was a former New Castle resident and well known here, died Wednesday evening, after a lingering illness.

The body will be brought to New Castle for burial. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Story Teller To Attend Conference

English Woman Will Come To New Castle In May To Attend Girl Scout Convention

Miss Nance Pugh, city director of Girl Scouts, has received a telegram informing her that Miss Elizabeth Clark, of England, famed story teller and lecturer on story telling, will come to New Castle on Tuesday evening May 12, to make an address at one of the sessions of the annual regional Girl Scout conference at The Castleton.

Miss Clark is a speaker of great ability and is unrivaled in that field in England today. She is coming to United States April 13 and will stay here until early in July, and will attend several conferences in addition to the big conference in New Castle.

Look Over Property Of Chemical Company

Attorney John P. Lockhart, John S. Crowl and Charles Crowl, have returned from Philadelphia, where they went on business connected with the affairs of the Westmoreland Chemical Company.

John S. Crowl was recently appointed receiver for the company which has a plant near the Shenango tin mill. The trip to Philadelphia was made for the purpose of looking over property of the company in Philadelphia, and other matters connected with the receivership.

WAMPUM

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Ada Jean Butler was honor guest at a very prettily appointed birthday celebration Tuesday evening at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Butler of Main street.

Honoring Ada's eleventh birthday the following little ladies were envited to enjoy a pleasant time: Misses Virginia Brooks, Evelyn Dindinger, Mary Jane Marshall, Patricia Adams, Geneva Pozzuto, Mabel Seaburn and Ada Jean.

Games and cards were the evening's pleasure with a delicious lunch served by Mrs. Butler.

WAMPUM NOTES

Mrs. Jno. Butler who has been with her daughter Mrs. W. N. Christopher in Beaver Falls, will visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Butler for an indefinite time.

Mrs. F. P. Major continues about the same.

Mrs. J. R. McConahy, spent yesterday in New Castle.

J. E. Smith of Pittsburgh was a business visitor in town Wednesday.

R. H. Cooke of Cleveland was a visitor in town today.

MEET THE MANAGER

BY JACK SORDS

Burt Shotton, boss of the phailing Phils, is in the position of a man with a high-powered motor car which lacks tires.

The Phils are potent with the bat. They are the second hardest hitting club in the major leagues, but their pitching and fielding are woefully weak. Their bats could drive them to high rank in the National league if they possessed a defense sufficient to withstand the shocks of traveling the rocky road up from the cellar.

Shotton has struggled with the problem of trying to straighten out a lop-sided ball club almost ever since he took over the management of the Phillies in 1928.

Burt succeeded Stuffy McInnis who just couldn't dislodge the Philadelphia team from the cellar of the National league. In his first season, 1928, Shotton had the same kind of luck. The Phils couldn't be budged.

The following year, however, the Quaker City crew managed to scramble up as far as fifth place, and a bright future was hoped for. But last season the Phils fell back again, with a dull, sickening thud, into last place.

However, things look a bit brighter for the Phils this spring. In training camp sessions their fielding and pitching has shown signs of improvement which may be lasting.

You're the JUDGE

The Decision

The court held against the lawyers.

The judges reasoned thus:

An attorney may make an agreement for contingent fees of a legitimate character from which he is to receive a certain share of the money recovered. The law does not, however, permit a person having no interest in the subject matter of a suit to become interested in it and concerned in its prosecution, and an agreement by which such a person bears expenses and costs of litigation is champerty and cannot be enforced.

Two Convicts At Ohio State Prison At Columbus Confess Arson

HOLOCAUST TOOK PLACE YEAR AGO

Penalty For Crime Is Death —Third Convict Implicated—320 Killed

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 2.—Indictments were expected to be returned today against two convicts who allegedly have confessed to starting the holocaust that took the lives of 320 prisoners at Ohio penitentiary last April 21.

According to Prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins, the confessions were obtained from Clinton Grate, alias "Cotton," and Hugh Gibbons, both of whom are serving terms for robbery.

Another convict, Jimmie Maloney, according to the prosecutor, appears to have taken part in the crime, the penalty for which is death.

The fire was started by the convicts because they objected to helping build the new cell block and also they desired to hamper the warden, Preston E. Thomas.

Grate and Gibbons were questioned separately last night, Hoskins said, and each told practically the same story of the fire. The fire was started after three previous attempts to set fire to concrete forms in two cell blocks had failed.

Unemployed Coal Miners Seek Aid

Unemployed Soft Coal Miners In Western Pennsylvania Enlist Aid

APPEAL IS SENT GOVERNOR PINCHOT

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 2.—Unemployed miners in the Allegheny valley bituminous coal field, numbering nearly 500, today called upon Governor Gifford Pinchot to further remedial legislation and save them from "misery and starvation".

At a mass meeting in New Kensington, the miners were addressed by Patrick T. Fagan, president of district No. 5, U. M. W. A. The miners voted to telegraph their appeal to Governor Pinchot over the signatures of John Moskus, president; James Roy, vice president, and David Robertson, secretary of local No. 1230.

The message read:

"We have just come from a mass meeting of coal miners. April 1 has always been a miners' holiday It has been called 'eight-hour day,' and 'John Mitchell day.'

Seek Food, Clothing.

"These names implied progress and happiness. Our meeting was a meeting of destitute men, who are begging for the right to clothe and feed their bodies.

"These men several months ago asked you to kindly consider the furtherance of a relief act to aid them but, to date, there has been no action.

"This meeting could not understand why appropriations for every conceivable use have been made, but our plea goes unheeded.

"Misery and starvation are rampant and if aid does not come soon, death itself will be stamping.

"Sir, we appeal to you in our distress."

Hero Medal Is Awarded Davids

Receives Vail Award For Outstanding Work In Applying First Aid

Allard J. Davids, an employe of the Bell Telephone Company in the McKeesport district, has been awarded the Vail medal, annual awards of which are made for outstanding heroism by telephone employes. Davids was cited for saving the life of a 14-year-old boy near Wilmerding, Pa. He is a World War veteran and a former resident of New Castle.

It was March 12, 1930, when Allard J. Davids and Wilbur C. Root, saved a boy who had been seriously injured in an auto wreck. The boy's right leg was almost severed and he was in danger of bleeding to death.

They applied first aid methods, placing a tourniquet about the boy's mangled leg to stop the bleeding. When a physician arrived, he ordered the boy's removal to the hospital. Although it was necessary to amputate the boy's leg above the knee, he survived.

Vail medals are awarded to Telephone Company employes through a memorial fund established by the late Theodore N. Vail, former president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, with which the Bell of Pennsylvania is affiliated.

"God's Harmony" To Be Presented

Of special interest to the congregation and friends of Croton Methodist church comes the announcement that the choir will present "God's Harmony" Sunday night at 7:30 as a fitting close to a glorious Easter program.

This cantata has been written and directed by Miss Eve Nicklin, deaconess of the church, who has gained fame for her authorship of religious playlets.

The singing of the "Hallelujah Chorus" by an invisible choir, will be a feature of the program, and the choir director, Mrs. June Bernard, will sing "The Holy City."

Easter Services At Westfield

The choir of the Westfield church will assist the pastor, Rev. Ross M. Haverfield, in the special Easter service, Sunday at 11 o'clock.

The Sabbath School will convene at 12:15 with the newly elected superintendent, H. L. McCurdy, in charge.

A Union Young People's Easter Service will be held at 7:30 p. m. with Helen McCurley and Analeah Mehard as leaders.

Auto Runs 59 Miles On Gallon Of Gas

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pickup, instant starting, smoother running motors and more power. The Whirlwind Mfg. Co., Dept. 2916-N, Station C. Milwaukee, Wisc., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. They also need men everywhere to make up to $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write them at once for free sample and big money making offer.—Adv.

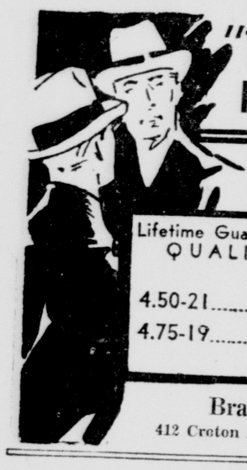

Feeling Bad Today? Listen, Here's Good News

What's the use in kidding yourself? If you feel tired and run down, you ought to do something about it before some serious illness strikes. You ought to build up your body so it's one hundred per cent fit.

The way to do this, say doctors, is to take cod liver oil. But don't take cod liver oil the old-fashioned liquid way. Take it the modern way in tiny tasteless tablets.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are made from the vitamins of the finest cod liver oil that Norway can produce. You get all the healthful benefits, but no nasty taste. That's why doctors so widely prescribe them. That's why Good Housekeeping Institute has given them its seal of approval.

If you want to lead a happy, healthy, normal life, accept this good advice. Go to your druggist and get a box of McCoy's today. They're just what the doctors say you need. 60 tablets—60 cents.
